FARRELL SAYS BIG CONCERNS CONCEAL FACTS

J. S. Steel Head Declares
"Big Standard Companies"
Breaking Faith
OUTLOOK IMPROVING
Schwab Thinks "Liquidation About Over"—Believes Normal Times Due

New York—(AP)—James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, faced fellow-executives of the steel industry today and barged that "the big standard companies" are not maintaining wage rates.

"I think," he said, "it's a pretty cheap sort of business."

Mr. Farrell's indictment of the companies was made at a general meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

"I don't say wages have been stabilized in the steel industry," Mr. Farrell began. "They have not. We are living in a fool's paradise. Honey-mooning and pinching of all sorts of things have gone on. The so-called 'standard' companies, the companies in the headlines, are not maintaining the standard of wages. It's a name that when some of the large companies are trying to maintain wages others are cutting them even when they are offering only three or four percent improvement."

"I am not going to give the names of all the companies represented in this room that have cut wages, because I don't want to embarrass you at all. I think it's a pretty cheap sort of business."

Expectations that the steel business would improve later in the year were expressed today by some executives of the industry who attended a semi-annual meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

Charles M. Schwab, chairman of Bethlehem Steel corporation and president of the institute, believed liquidation was "about over" and did that whereas the necessary tonnage to supply maintenance, replacement and general needs of the country in a normal year were 51,000,000 tons, operations for the first half of 1931 were running at the rate of about 30,000,000 tons.

"We have been rationing out steel is year on a starvation diet," he said. "Before many months elapse at situation will be remedied. This industry cannot subsist for long on 30,000,000 ton basis."

Both Mr. Schwab and Mr. Farrell scussed the unfavorable price level prevailing in the industry. Mr. Far-

Gandhi Will Not Attend London Meet

Simla, India—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi again has upset plans of the British empire by refusing to go to London for a meeting of the federal structures committee as suggested by the British cabinet.

The diminutive, 93-pound leader of the Indian Nationalists, telegraphed Lord Willingdon, viceroy of India, from Nainital today that he could not possibly be in London on June 29 before the Hindu-Muslim communal problem is solved and all conditions of the Delhi armistice have been carried out.

Efforts at once were started by long distance telephone and telegraph to alter his decision but those who know the character of the father of India's independence movement say he is not likely to change his mind.

Gandhi was represented as feeling his presence in India now is imperative if all terms of the Delhi truce are to be enforced and if the existing breach between the Hindus and Moslems is to be healed.

Meanwhile the whole question of the date of the next structures committee meeting and the full session of the round table conference has been thrown into confusion. Up to this afternoon only three or four Indian delegates to the round table conference had indicated their readiness to be in London for the June 29 meeting of the committee.

The general impression is that if all leave here in June it will be only under the greatest pressure from the government.

A majority of these delegates favored September for the committee session and November for the round table conference. Nevertheless government authorities here today made a number of reservations on a steamer sailing from Bombay on June 13 in event the June 29 date is retained.

It generally is believed if the June date is finally unacceptable to Gandhi, Premier MacDonald will postpone the committee meeting until such time as he is able to attend because it is a knowledge that no constitution evolved by the structures committee can be representative without this spokesman of the Indian masses.

GOLD STAR MOTHER IS SERIOUSLY ILL IN PARIS

Paris—(AP)—Mrs. Gertrude Olson of Hayti, S. D., a member of the Gold Star mothers contingent, was in critical condition today after undergoing a blood transfusion early this morning. She is suffering from a intestinal trouble.

Mrs. Catherine Lutz of Buffalo, who contracted pneumonia on the voyage over, was reported today as somewhat improved, having passed a comfortable night.

Mrs. Jessie McCabe of Baltimore, who also has been ill, is recovering rapidly and probably will rejoin her group in a day or so.

ENGINEER KILLED IN LOCOMOTIVE SMASHUP

Pittsburgh—(AP)—The locomotive of a Pittsburgh-Buffalo passenger train of the Pennsylvania railroad was derailed and the engineer killed at Edinboro, about 25 miles north of here today. None of the passengers was injured.

L. H. Hillgrove of Pittsburgh, the engineer, was pinned under his locomotive and was dead when found. The fireman, L. A. Knarr of Oil City, leaped when the engine toppled over and was not hurt. The front trucks of the baggage car also were derailed.

FALL TO APPEAL CONVICTION TO HIGHEST COURT

Former Interior Secretary Influenced by Friends and Lawyers

Washington—(AP)—Albert B. Fall will carry to the supreme court his contention of accepting a $100,000 bribe while he was interior secretary under President Harding.

One of his counsel, Frank J. Hogan, announced last night that friends and counsel of the 59-year-old former cabinet officer had succeeded in convincing Fall that the case "should not stop short of the supreme court."

Hence, Hogan said, Fall, from his Three Rivers, N. M., home, has instructed his attorneys to petition the highest of the U. S. supreme court's decision upholding the Indiana progressive chain store tax, was given the assembly today by the attorney general's department.

The opinion, written by Fred M. Wylie, deputy attorney general, supplants one given the lower house May 12 after the assembly had rejected the tax.

After the District of Columbia court announced its decision last month, Fall said he no longer would contest the case charging he accepted the bribe from Edward L. Doheny, wealthy oil man. Doheny has been acquitted of giving the money.

"I am an old man and for the last eight years have known little but trouble," Fall said last month. "I am a poor man and I have no money for further legal defense."

Hogan announced the petition for review would be filed with the supreme court before next Thursday, which is the last day it may be presented.

"Mr. Fall has now decided to yield to the advice of his attorneys and to the importunities of his family and friends," Hogan said.

HEALTH IMPROVES

El Paso, Texas—(AP)—Albert B. Fall said today improved health and the importunities of friends had led him to revive a fight against conviction of accepting a bribe as secretary of the interior.

Fall, sentenced to a year in jail and $100,000 fine in connection with the leasing of naval oil reserves, announced May 2 that due to his age and lack of funds, he would abandon plans for an appeal to the supreme court and place his plea before President Hoover.

Frank J. Hogan, one of his attorneys, revealed in Washington last night the former secretary would again seek a review of the case. Edward L. Doheny, a friend of Fall, was acquitted on a charge of giving the money.

Mr. Fall came to El Paso several days ago from his Tres Ritos ranch at Three Rivers, N. M. more than 100 miles away.

Sitting on the veranda of the mansion owned by his wife, the former secretary said he had undergone a physical examination to determine whether he had the strength to go through further court action.

"We came to El Paso," he said, "where I was examined by two physicians, and I am thankful to say they pronounced me in much better health than I had been for many days."

Fall said in a formal statement his announcement of May 2 was made without consultation with his attorneys.

"During the interim," the statement said, "he has been advised by his friends and by various prominent lawyers, among them W. H. Burges of El Paso, as well as business men and United States senators and others, not to withdraw his pending appeal to the supreme court, but to pursue that appeal through that court."

TESTIMONY RULED OUT OF KIRKLAND TRIAL

Valparaiso, Ind.—(AP)—On objections of attorneys for the state, Judge Grant Crumpacker today at second trial of Virgil Kirkland, gin orgy slayer, temporarily ruled out testimony given at first trial by Dr. Joseph Springer, formerly coroner's physician of Chicago.

Dr. Springer was one of four physicians who officiated at the second autopsy of Arlene Draves at Reynolds, Ind., in March. In offering testimony of Dr. Springer, Defense Attorney R. C. Oldham stated Dr. Springer could not be obtained to testify.

Dr. Springer's testimony supported defense contention that Miss Draves' death was due to head injury received by fall on porch and not criminal attacks. The defense announced it would try to secure Dr. Springer to testify.

Bud Anderson, Gary youth, testified today to a gin party given by Arlene Draves at her home two months before her murder. Anderson said Miss Draves invited him.

NAMES NEW JUDGE

Madison—(AP)—Gov. Philip L. Follett today appointed Thomas A. Humphrey, Mellen attorney, as Ashland municipal judge. He succeeds George H. McCloud.

Chain Store Tax Opinion Revised By Reynolds' Aid

Prohibitive Tax Barred Under New Ruling by Fred M. Wylie

Madison—(AP)—A revised opinion, in line with the U. S. supreme court's decision upholding the Indiana progressive chain store tax, was given the assembly today by the attorney general's department.

GIRL KILLED AT HUDSON BY TRAIN

Mother Seriously Injured While Walking on Track Toward Station

Hudson, Wis.—(AP)—One person was killed and another critically injured today by a Northwestern passenger train which ran them down on the track near here.

Louise Lemon, 13, was killed and her mother, Mrs. John Lemon, was injured. They were walking along the right-of-way toward the Hudson station when hit.

Mr. Lemon was waiting for them at the station from where they planned to leave for Minneapolis to attend a birthday anniversary celebration of another daughter, Mrs. Charles Sargay.

Lemon is night watchman in the Omaha shops here.

HOUSE FAILS TO ACT ON AGRICULTURE BILL

Madison—(AP)—The assembly last night voted 58 to 18 for definite postponement of a bill to reorganize the state department of agriculture and markets.

The bill called for abolition of the present department, replacing it by a department under direction of a commissioner to be appointed by the governor for a six year term.

The senate committee bill allowing public hearings before court commissioners was ordered to a third reading and the Huber bill classifying and licensing fur dealers and traders was passed.

The lower house passed the Larson bill giving children of soldiers killed in the World War benefits under the soldiers' and war orphans' educational bonus and approved the Lange-Visconsin Bar association bill licensing legal investigators and adjusters and fining "ambulance chasers."

The bill raising motor speed limits for auto transportation companies from 25 to 30 miles an hour was passed.

MAGIC ENDS STRIKE OF NATIVE WORKERS IN SOUTH AFRICA

Capetown, South Africa—(AP)—Some "white man's magic" has lifted a spell on the natives of Keysna colony.

Spurred by two Kikuyu madmen, two workers of the Lumbwa tribe in a mixed gang of maize workers recently laid a "curse" on the girls and the girls said they were ill. The Kikuyu natives thereupon refused to work.

Saying he was something of a medicine man, the British manager lined the crew up and gave each a stone. The Lumbwa got chunks of lime. He told them that the guilty ones would smoke when water was poured on them—and proved it.

The culprits fell on their knees and promised to lift the "curse."

POPE'S ENCYCLICAL PROMISED TOMORROW

Vatican City—(AP)—Pope Pius has promised his encyclical on workers' rights and the relations between capital and labor will be given to the world tomorrow.

The Latin text which the pontiff has written is being translated into many languages for ultimate broadcasting. The official Latin and Italian translation will be published in the Osservatore Romano tomorrow and at the same time, according to the usual custom, it will be broadcast in Latin, then in English from the papal radio station.

MINNESOTA BANK ROBBERY

Pier, Minn.—(AP)—Three men robbed the Farmers and Merchants State bank today and escaped with $14,000 in cash.

KELLY PLEADS GUILTY OF DRY LAW CHARGES

Fred W. Giese, Former Sheriff, and Lothar Kemp Also Go on Trial

Milwaukee—(AP)—Dan Kelly, former turnkey at the Outagamie-co jail, changed his plea to guilty in federal court today when he went on trial with Fred W. Giese, former Outagamie-co sheriff, and Lothar Kemp, former deputy sheriff, on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition act.

Nelson H. Carver, special prosecutor, declared the trio had evolved a methodical plan to collect protection money from all law violators in the county in which Kelly acted as "up-off" man.

Gerald Clifford, Green Bay, defense counsel, in his opening statement attacked Kelly's character and said that Kelly collected funds on his own initiative without Giese's knowledge.

Giese was ousted from office on Jan. 31, 1930, following a trial in which numerous witnesses testified to paying for protection for their liquor and slot machine businesses. Kelly, who turned state's evidence, claimed he acted as Giese's agent in the collection of bribes and that he served as "go-between" for Giese and the saloon keepers and others who paid protection money. One of the specific charges was that of selling seized stills and other bootleggers' equipment back to the men from whom they were seized.

Kelly Sent to Prison

After Kelly turned state's evidence he was arrested for an attempt to enter the Trass Grocery on E. College-ave and he was sent to state prison at Waupun by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court when he pleaded guilty. Kelly was taken to Milwaukee last week from Waupun and was expected that he would be out of the "strut" against the former sheriff.

Giese was elected sheriff in November, 1929. In the summer of 1929, after he had been in office for about six months, an investigation was started by Stanley A. Stalld, district attorney, after an affidavit was filed by Henry Van Camp, center, who claimed that Kelly, accompanied by Kemp, came to him, Kelly told to collect money, promising protection of the sheriff's office in the operation of a still.

A John Doe proceeding was instituted before Judge Theodore Berg at which about a score of witnesses

500 KILLED DURING BURMESE REBELLION

Thousands Wounded or Captured in Clash of Natives With Britain

Simla, India—(AP)—Nearly 500 persons are reported to have been killed and thousands wounded or captured in the current insurrection in Burma against British authority.

American missionaries returning here say that the rebellion is in danger of spreading from southern Burma, its starting point, throughout the country and that colonial officials are rushing fresh troops from India into the upper section.

The lower house passed the Larson bill giving children of soldiers killed in the World War benefits under the soldiers' and war orphans' educational bonus and approved the Lange-Visconsin Bar association bill licensing legal investigators and adjusters and fining "ambulance chasers."

The bill raising motor speed limits for auto transportation companies from 25 to 30 miles an hour was passed.

ARCHDUKE LEOPOLD IS TOLD TO QUIT AUSTRIA

Vienna—(AP)—Archduke Leopold Salvator, a member of the former ruling house of Austria-Hungary, must leave Austria.

He has been informed by the Vienna police that his application to remain here has been refused. He has been seeking the aid of church dignitaries in obtaining a dispensation from Pope Pius XI which would enable him to divorce Princess Milka, his wife, and marry Mrs. Alice Corbani, a Canadian.

The archduke did not file his application until after he had been here several weeks. It was said, which is contrary to regulation, that only recourse now is to appeal the police decision to the courts, remaining here for the verdict.

He has been living in Barcelona, Spain, since the Hapsburgs were expelled from Austria in 1918. He is a brother of Archduke Anton, fiancee of Princess Elena of Rumania. During a visit to New York last year he was tried and acquitted of having participated in the unauthorized sale of a diamond necklace belonging to the Archduchess Theresa, his aunt.

LITTLE HOPE FOR PLAN ON WHEAT SITUATION

London—(AP)—The international wheat conference committee seeking a decision on a plan for presentation to the plenary session tomorrow recessed at 7 o'clock p. m. with its work unfinished and a spirit of hopelessness pervading the conference. Observers expressed the belief that only major concessions on the part of opposing factions could prevent a stale die adjournment with little or nothing accomplished.

TWO BROKERS CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT

Cincinnati, Ohio—(AP)—Jess N. Roberts and Walter E. Hall, former partners in the defunct brokerage firm of Roberts and Hall, were indicted today by the county grand jury for alleged embezzlement and conversion of funds. The firm failed of Dec. 30, 1929, for $1,500,000. Prosecutor R. N. Gorman said the indictments grew out of acts alleged to have been committed before the firm closed its doors.

FRANCE PLANS CRUISER

Paris—(AP)—France's reply to the recent launching by Germany of its new cruiser Deutschland came today with a recommendation to the chamber of deputies for a new battle cruiser of 22,000 tons to be laid down forthwith, to outclass it.

COMBINED HOTEL, CAFE AND GARAGE PLANNED FOR CITY

Chicago—(AP)—The National Auto-Haven company has announced plans to proceed shortly with erection of 103 combination hotels, automobile service stations and restaurants centering around the Chicago metropolitan region. The project involves expenditure of $8,500,000 for buildings, land, furnishings, and equipment for the contemplated Havens; 37 in Illinois, 24 in Indiana, 23 in Wisconsin and 16 in Michigan.

A. J. Williams, general manager, said the average Haven would cost $20,000 for land, $30,000 for building and $15,000 for furnishings.

Sites in Wisconsin will be: Appleton, Beaver Dam, Beloit, Burlington, Fond du Lac, Ft. Atkinson, Janesville, Kenosha, Lake Geneva, Manitowish, Milwaukee, Menasha, Monroe, Neenah, Oconomowoc, Oshkosh, Portage, Port Washington, Racine, Watertown, Waukesha and West Bend.

Prepare To Ask Return Of Suspect

Eagle River, Wis.—(AP)—Convinced after an examination of official photographs that a man held in San Francisco as Frank J. Moran is in reality George W. E. Perry of Milwaukee, wanted for the slaying of Cora Belle Hackett, District Attorney E. H. Drager today began preparation of extradition warrants.

The photographs, Bertillon measurements and fingerprints of Moran arrived here today.

"To me, the photographs are identical with those I have seen of Perry," said Mr. Drager.

Sheriff Thomas McGregor, Sr., of Vilasco, took the identification material to La Crosse, Platteville, where they were viewed by Mr. and Mrs. Houston W. Parker, owners of the resort at Eagle River, and his three wife, who he married bigamously, stopped last summer.

The Parkers already have identified telephone likeliness of Moran as Perry.

Following a report from Sheriff McGregor on his investigations today, and the giving of additional information he is awaiting, Mr. Drager said he would not issue extradition warrants.

However, the district attorney has authorized Henry Mauger, retired Milwaukee detective, now living in Hollywood, Calif., and his son, Harry, to proceed to San Francisco to view Moran. Both know Perry while residents of Milwaukee.

"PUBLIC SERVICE" BILL IS APPROVED

Senate Passes Measure Changing Name of Railroad Commission

Madison—(AP)—With only one dissenting vote, the Duncan bill changing the name of the railroad commission to "Public Service Commission" and giving it greater powers in the regulation of public utilities was passed by the senate today. The vote was 20 to 1, Sen. Oscar Morris, Milwaukee, dissenting.

As amended, the bill has the approval of not only the members of the state railroad commission but also the representatives of public utilities in Wisconsin.

Under the bill the Public Service commission will assess the costs of hearings against public utilities instead of charging it to the expense of the state.

The bill also gives the Public Service commission the power to prohibit expansions and changes in public utility service unless it can be shown that the change will result in better service or lower rates.

Probably the most important provision in the bill is that which gives the Public Service commission greater control over arrangements or contracts between Wisconsin utilities and outside holding company interests. A provision which would prohibit non-residents of Wisconsin from membership in Wisconsin utility boards was removed.

The author of the measure believes it will serve as a weapon against centralization of public utility control in Chicago and New York and will make the commission more aggressive in protecting the public interest.

The senate concurred in an assembly bill raising the milk fat content of ice cream 1 per cent and that of loaves 1 per cent. An assembly bill prohibiting the giving away of coloring matter with oleomargarine was killed as was a bill to standardize the size of poultry coops when used in shipping. The senate concurred in the assembly bill increasing the powers of the Onondaga-co court.

DEFICIT FOR RUMANIA

Bucharest—(AP)—Finance Minister Argenteanu said in an address today that the 1931 state budget will total $177,000,000 and that the nation is faced by a deficit of $50,000,000. This figure does not include the deficits of railway and government enterprises.

COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED TO SECURE DATA

Survey Contemplated to Determine Cost of Metropolitan Project

Agreeing that the time had arrived for the careful consideration of a metropolitan sewage disposal plant, members of the Fox River Municipalities association laid the groundwork for the project at a dinner meeting at Valley Inn, Neenah, Thursday evening. A safety and health committee, consisting of the engineers from four cities, was appointed to secure preliminary data.

Members of the committee, appointed by Mayor B. W. Fargo, Kaukauna, president, are A. E. McMahon, Menasha; L. M. Schindler, Appleton; F. M. Charlesworth, Kaukauna; and Anthony Prunuske, Neenah. They will make a survey and investigate the cost of securing a consulting engineer who will furnish an estimate of the cost of the project and determine the proportionate expense to each city, village and town. The committee will report to the association, after which each city will take action on the project through its own governing body.

It was the opinion of all municipal heads that a metropolitan sewage disposal plant, located north of Kaukauna where a natural flow of water can be had, is essential, and that the time has arrived when preliminary steps should be taken to secure the improvement.

Survey Cost $2,500

The Menasha engineer, A. E. McMahon, who has been promoting the metropolitan sewer project since he was elected to Neenah several years ago, advised securing an estimate of the cost of the project, which he estimated would not cost more than $2,500. He urged the promotion of the project, saying that it would effect great saving of life and health.

Mayor George E. Sando of Neenah and Mayor N. G. Reramel, Menasha, suggested that the interest of the towns of Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Appleton, and Kaukauna be solicited, and that the heads of these towns be invited to attend meetings where the project is to be discussed.

It was felt that the first step should be a survey of each municipality the plant would serve. Mayor John Goodland, Jr., of Appleton, favored a plant for the territory between Neenah and Kaukauna. Mayor Reramel of Menasha, stating that his city is ready, sanctioned the move to discover the cost. Mayor Sando of Neenah said that he is eager to see plans materialize, as his city has faced several desperate situations because of improper sewage outlets, a problem that would be eliminated with a metropolitan sewage disposal plant. President McMahon of Fox River, Grand Chute and Kaukauna, stated that Jansen of Little Chute suggested inviting in all towns that might benefit by the plan.

MEET AGAIN JUNE 4

The annual meeting of the association will be held in Appleton on June 4. Mayor Reramel of Menasha asked for the cooperation of the group in securing the 1932 convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities for his city.

The Thursday evening meeting, the second formal session since the group was organized, was in charge of Mayor Fargo, with the Neenah officials as hosts. Thirty-two mayors, village presidents and other officials from Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, Kaukauna, Kimberly, Little Chute and Combined Locks were in attendance.

Several changes were made in the by-laws, and it was decided to appoint legislative, publicity, education, urban, rural welfare, and taxation committees.

TOSCANINI'S HOME PUT UNDER GUARD IN MILAN

Milan, Italy—(AP)—Two soldiers and half a dozen detectives have been posted as a guard outside the home of Arturo Toscanini, orchestra conductor, who was assaulted at Bologna recently when he refused to lead his orchestra in the Fascist anthem.

Last night a group of students staged a hostile demonstration outside the house, cheering the news that Toscanini's passport had been temporarily suspended by the government. It is expected, however, that the suspension will be lifted within a day or so.

"KIBITZER KILLER" IS CONVICTED IN CHICAGO

Chicago—(AP)—Frank Searnavacchio, 60, was convicted yesterday as a "kibitzer killer." He slew Santo Lencato, father of nine, when Lencato looked over his shoulder during a card game and tried to tell him how to play. The punishment, for manslaughter, may be from 1 to 14 years.

Former Assistant Prosecutor Held In California Murders

THREE IDENTIFY HIM AS KILLER OF TWO PERSONS

Suspect Refuses to Admit or Deny Guilt Under Questioning

Los Angeles—(P)—David H. Clark, candidate for municipal judge and former deputy district attorney, held on suspicion of double murder, was transferred today to the county jail hospital for an examination into his sanity.

Los Angeles—(P)—David H. Clark, former deputy district attorney, was held today on a charge of slaying Herbert Spencer, magazine editor, and Charles Crawford, wealthy politician, who were shot to death in Crawford's office Wednesday.

Clark surrendered last night to Burton Pitts, district attorney, who said his former aide had been identified by employees of Crawford, a real estate dealer, as the man who was in conference with the victims just before they fell mortally wounded by revolver fire.

Officers questioned Clark more than an hour about details of the shooting before he was sent to jail. Pitts said he had refused to make a statement.

Shortly after being named in a statement by Pitts as the man wanted for the slayings, Clark telephoned the district attorney last night that he was about to surrender. Alone he drove to the prosecutor's office, ran a gauntlet of cameramen and reporters and disappeared behind the swinging doors of Pitts' chambers.

Clark refused to talk about the slayings when reporters shot questions at him, and Pitts later said his former subordinate had likewise refused to make a statement under questioning. A murder charge was filed against Clark after he had been identified by three persons as the man who ran from Crawford's office after the shooting.

Clark's recent unsuccessful candidacy for a Los Angeles municipal judgeship had been opposed by Crawford and Spencer. Pitts said he recently had requested Clark's resignation as deputy prosecutor.

The district attorney said he had evidence that Clark purchased a .33 caliber pistol Tuesday. Police experts asserted 33 caliber bullets had killed Spencer, former, police reporter and alleged "fixer" for persons accused of minor offenses, and Crawford, presumably retired politician.

The killing at first was attributed to gambling interests which had been attacked in the magazine, "Crucible of Critics," of which Spencer was managing editor and Crawford a patron. The magazine had named Clark as the author of the article.

Clark, police said, established that he was not near the scene of the killing. To all questions as to whether he committed the murders, or was in Crawford's office, Clark refused to reply.

"Will you say you did not kill them?" Pitts pressed. "I don't want to say anything now," Clark replied.

The same answer accompanied a query as to why Clark had bought a revolver. These developments at least temporarily displaced theories that Spencer and Crawford were gangland victims.

Spencer had intimated in his magazine that underworld circles had feared him because he had threatened to make further disclosures. Pitts said Lucille Fisher, stenographer, and Ray Radke, Crawford's secretary, positively identified Clark as the man who was in conference with Crawford and Spencer. Roger W. Fowler, photographer, would not definitely identify Clark as the man who died after the killing. Miss Billie Rorback, another Crawford office employee, said she thought Clark was the man.

Clark, a boyish-looking lawyer, just before his resignation in February, after eight years of service in the district attorney's office, prosecuted grand theft charges on which Daisy DeBoe, former secretary of Clara Bow, film star, was convicted and sentenced to 18 months in jail. He is a graduate of the University of Southern California and the U. S. Naval academy.

The Rev. Gustav Biegler, pastor of the St. Paul's Presbyterian church, denied today a previously published report that he had heard Crawford, before his death in a hospital gasp the name "Dave" in answers to queries as to the killer's identity.

PLAN APPLETON UNIT FOR HOLY NAME MEET

Officers of the Holy Name societies of the four Appleton parishes of the Catholic church, St. Joseph, St. Mary, St. Theresa and Sacred Heart will meet at the Catholic home at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon to complete arrangements for Appleton's part in the Holy Name rally parade of the Great Lakes diocese here Sunday, May 31. Appleton's delegation of Holy Name society members will be accompanied by three bands and the Eagle Field and Drum Corps. The 120th Field Artillery band, the Appleton High school and the Junior High school bands will participate. The meeting was called for Sunday in order to give committees a full week to complete the work for Appleton's arrangements.

CHARGE MAN DROVE HIS CAR TOO FAST

Alex Kielgas, 404 N. Richmond-st., was arrested last night on a charge of driving 85 miles an hour on E. Wisconsin-ave. The arrest was made by Lt. E. R. Roy, motorcyclist. Kielgas is to appear in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg this afternoon to answer charges.

Sues Famous Radio Announcer

Mrs. Graham McNamee, who wrote in a recent magazine article that it's fun to be the wife of a radio announcer, is now suing for separation. When she was married 10 years ago, friends called it the "ideal" marriage. Mrs. McNamee is shown above, before a picture of her husband.

"Public Service" Is New Watchword Of Plumbers

The new watchword of the plumbing trade is "Service to the Public," and to bear out this slogan many master plumbers throughout the Fox River valley have equipped their shops and trained their personnel accordingly. M. M. Hanson, treasurer and coordinator of the plumbing trade at Appleton vocational school, reports.

"The trade is emphasizing the importance of building favorable relations with the public because it realizes that the public's impression of a plumber is formed while he is doing his work in the private homes," Mr. Hanson said.

"If a plumber enters a home dressed in soiled clothes, or if he is not properly equipped to perform his job, the home owner gains a poor impression of his ability. As far as service is concerned, the public demands and receives it from almost all those with whom they come in contact. Service must be given or the public goes elsewhere," he stated.

Declaring that the plumbing trade has taken more ridicule through innumerable jokes and puns, Mr. Hanson pointed out that plumbers throughout the state are expending every effort to rid themselves of the yoke of ridicule.

"In order to gain the confidence of the public completely, the vocational schools of Green Bay, Appleton, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac cooperated with the Fox River Valley Plumbing trade by establishing a course of instruction," he said. "Already the program has been copied in other parts of the state and many inquiries have been received from various parts of the country."

"More than one half of the entire trade attended these classes, and discussions were carried on emphasizing proper methods of approach and conduct in a home, and personal appearance. Considerable time was spent in discussing the importance of using proper language and of being courteous to the customer regardless of the nature of the job."

"Special emphasis was given to the necessity of cleanliness while on the job. It was pointed out that repair job should never be started until newspapers or a cloth was first spread on the floor for the protection of walls, floors and furniture," he stated.

Mr. Hanson says the training course and "follow up" effort has received the unanimous support of the Fox River Valley Sanitary club, composed of the master plumbers, local unions for journeymen in Green Bay, Appleton, and other valley cities in the Wisconsin Master Plumbers' association.

LIST STUDENTS IN ORATORICAL FINALS

National Champion to Be Determined at Washington, D. C. Tomorrow

The seven student contestants who will tour Europe as guests of American newspapers and who will participate in the national finals of the National Oratorical contest in Washington, D. C., Saturday, were announced today by Randolph Leigh, director-general of the contest.

The students were selected in the seven zone competitions held last week in Kansas City, Washington, New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Springfield, Mass., and Birmingham. The winners are Robert Rayburn, Newton, Kas; James A. Moore, Washington, D. C.; Jack Emmett, New York City; Ever Louise Conner, Chicago, Ill.; William J. Codd, Spokane, Wash.; William J. Donahue, Herkimer, N. Y.; James Pelham, Birmingham, Ala. James Moore, 15, is the youngest contestant and represents the Washington zone.

Newspapers whose representatives won their way through to the finals are the Kansas City Star, the Washington Evening Star, the New York Times, the Chicago Daily News, the Seattle Times, the Utica Press and the Birmingham Age-Herald. The winners in the national contest will receive a handsome silver loving cup and will represent the United States in the International Finals to be held in Washington in October.

50TH BIRTHDAY IS CELEBRATED BY RED CROSS

Representatives of Many Nations Take Part in U. S. Observance

Washington—(P)—After 50 years of labor on battle field, among earthquake debris, through fire and flood and famine, the American Red Cross took time off last night to celebrate its golden jubilee.

President Hoover cut the first slice of an enormous white-cake birthday cake, topped with a Red Cross and 50-gleaming candles. Never before had the organization appeared before the American public in festive mood, yet its pageantry was as impressive as its appeals for the suffering.

A Red Cross made ethereal by an oval-framing of light was background for a brilliant banquet room gay with bouquets in the Red Cross colors, and with flags of all nations, loaned by the embassies and legations, as their share in the celebration.

Nurses whose coils have come to symbolize "the world's greatest mother" in her role of ministrations to the suffering gave smiling welcome to 800 guests from more than fifty nations, and from every portion of the United States. They were ambassadors, diplomats, international jurists, cabinet officers, financiers, all identified with the work of the Red Cross.

In that setting was told the story of how Clara Barton gathered a few friends about her in her Washington home, May 21, 1851, and formed the Red Cross society.

"A chief glory and pride of the American democracy," President Hoover said of the organization, "it belongs to the people themselves. It is a living embodiment of their heart and soul. It has lived and grown because it is a natural outgrowth of their spiritual impulse."

"It is the finest and most effective organization of the American heart," said Chief Justice Hughes, who presided. "It knows no partisanship. In the perfection of its co-operation, there is no blemish of distinctions by reasons of race or creed or political philosophy."

Help For All Sufferers

"Since the day of its origin, the Red Cross has meant relief to suffering friends and to suffering enemies alike," said Judge Max Huber of Zurich, Switzerland, president of the International committee of the Red Cross. "This goes beyond solidarity, this demands abnegation."

"Conquest of life from devastation, destruction, and despair," was the characterization by Miss Mabel Boardman, secretary. "The Red Cross has gone with healing in its wings, carrying to suffering multitudes the help so willingly given by their fellow men."

"Whenever you read a newspaper account of disaster anywhere, you may know the Red Cross is reaching out a helping hand," Judge Barton Payne, chairman, put it.

These speakers in succession described the inception of the Red Cross idea in Switzerland, its coming to America in the aggressive person of Clara Barton, its spread to 5,000 chapters, its work in war and peace. None did they neglect to answer criticisms in the most recent disaster—drought relief. Judge Huber visioned its future in spreading the cause of peace, but said its war functions must continue so long as nations arm.

Only three survivors of 50 years ago remained to share with the organization its golden jubilee. Each, however, typified a phase of Red Cross character—Mrs. Peter Voorhees de Graw of Washington, member of the initial national society; Dr. Benjamin P. Andrews of Danville, New York, member of the first "local chapter"; and Major James McPherson of Washington, pioneer relief worker.

At hundreds of concurrent banquets in Red Cross chapters throughout the country, golden jubiliators shared by radio the spirit of the occasion. But they didn't get to see the large illuminated birthday cake enter the darkened banquet hall or the procession of 52 Saturday birthday cakes, each with its cluster of lighted candles, which followed.

PLAINTIFF RESTS IN $10,000 DAMAGE SUIT

Testimony of the plaintiff, in the suit for $10,000 damages brought by Mrs. Irma Schmaling, town of Centerville, against the Wisconsin Michigan Power company, was completed yesterday afternoon when the defense started its testimony immediately. The case, which is in progress in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg, opened Monday. Today court officials said it was not likely that it would be completed this week. It was not certain whether a court session would be held Saturday or whether Judge Berg would adjourn the case this afternoon to Monday.

Mrs. Schmaling asks damages for the death of her husband, Edward, who was fatally injured in July, 1930, when a power pole fell. He was struck by a wire carrying 35,000 volts. Frank Lucetko, who was with Schmaling, was instantly killed.

MACK AND HANTSCHEL WILL ATTEND MEETING

Mike Mack, Shiocton, chairman of the Outagamie-co board, and John E. Hantschel, county clerk, plan to attend the annual Wisconsin County Boards' convention at Green Bay on June 9, 10 and 11. One of the features of the convention will be the unveiling of the Redore statue, "The Spirit of the Northwest," to take place on the afternoon of June 10. Committees at Green Bay are now at work on the program.

WARN FARMERS NOT TO MAKE USE OF COUNTY SNOW FENCE

Frank Appleton, highway commissioner, today issued a second warning to farmers advising them that they cannot use snow fence, stored along the highways for purposes of their own. Mr. Appleton pointed out that several weeks ago the highway committee went on record as being opposed to this practice. A warning was given to the farmers. Although no actual cases of the violation of this order has been found by Mr. Appleton he said that if anyone knew of any such cases they should report them to the department at once.

"CALF" CASE IS OPENED AGAIN BY NEW APPEAL

Ask Supreme Court to Reverse Decision Sending Joseph Freund to Jail

Outagamie-co's famous calf case, which attracted wide attention during the trial early in February, was reopened today when Martin and Martin, Green Bay attorneys, filed an appeal to the supreme court in behalf of Joseph Freund, former Greenville farmer, now serving a term in state prison at Waupun for the theft of a calf from his neighbor, Emil Smith.

The trial lasted several days, during which the courtroom was packed for every session. Freund stoutly denied the theft of the pure bred calf from Smith, but a jury found him guilty on three counts, robbery, larceny and concealing stolen property. He was sentenced by Judge Theodore Berg to one to three years on the first count; one year on the second; and one year on the third. The terms are to run concurrently.

Freund was arrested after Smith had found tire tracks near his barn, following the disappearance of the calf last November, and learned these tracks matched those made by tires on Freund's car. A carcass found in Freund's basement was claimed by the prosecution to be that of Smith's calf. Freund claimed the carcass was that of a bull calf of his own which he had slaughtered.

Considerable expert testimony was advanced in an effort to determine the sex of the carcass. The defense maintained it was the carcass of a bull calf while the state contended it was impossible to determine the sex. State experts, after the trial, examined the carcass and corroborated evidence of prosecution witnesses, declaring it was impossible to determine the sex of the animal from the carcass.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

A marriage license was issued Friday by John E. Hantschel, county clerk, to Arnold Nieman, Cicueue, Ariz., and Hildegarde Kasper, route 2, Appleton.

Peonies And Iris Invite Close Study Of Flowers

All those who have had even the simplest kind of a garden know of the great pleasure to be derived from it. But until one has chosen some one species of flower on which to put extra attention, until he specializes, in fact, he does not get the full joy of gardening.

Peonies and Iris are two of the most interesting families of flowers for the specialist. They are hardy, they are easy to grow, there are hundreds of fine varieties already available for trial and study. Also, wonderful new varieties are being brought out every year to intrigue the fancier.

Blooming during May and June, and requiring a minimum of care this rest of the summer, they allow full enjoyment of their beauty before the summer vacation season takes one from home during July or August.

Iris time and Peony time will soon be here. There will be many shows of growers will open their fields of acres of bloom to the public and many fine collections in private gardens will be shared with flower lovers. Do just as much visiting as you can. Your garden space or your purse may limit the number of varieties you can buy, and at these displays you can set down the kinds which make an especial appeal and which you will later on in the summer or fall purchase for your own garden. This saves time, money and put your garden on a much higher plane.

One of the nice things about gardening is that one is not bound by any set of fashions, color standards or combinations. If some popular variety does not appeal to you, you are not obliged to grow it. And if some kind not so well known does provide just the shade of color or form of blossom that you like, you will be glad to see it and order it.

Make the Peonies and the Iris your friends, learn to know them by their names, and you will appreciate them all the more. Ask to see blooms of the Peonies Theresse, Tourganelle, Philippe Riviere, Fuyves, Kelways, Gorgious, Monsieur Martin Calanus, and of the Iris Ambassadeur, Morning Splendor, Blue Velvet, Pink Saffron, Plue d'Or, King Karl, Candy Light. You will respond to their beauty, and will want to extend your acquaintance to many other varieties just as fine.

SCHMIEGE NAMED ON COUNCIL OF AIR LAW GROUP

Board Is Composed of Outstanding Men in Field from All Over U. S.

Oscar J. Schmieg, Appleton, assemblyman from the first Outagamie district, has been selected as the Wisconsin member of the Advisory Council of the American Academy of Air Law, it was announced this week.

The purposes of the academy are to establish and maintain a library in aeronautical and radio law; to develop a sound and enlightened opinion on the legal aspect of aeronautical and radio problems on the part of the public and the agencies of government; to prepare, print and issue publications, periodicals and information on aeronautical and radio law; to act as a clearing house for the collection and dissemination of information pertaining hereto, and promote regional, national and international conferences in air law.

Other members of the advisory council are Chester W. Cuthell, general attorney, Curtiss-Wright corporation; Alexander Clemen, director of the Guggenheim School of Aeronautics, New York university; Biorello H. LaGuardia, member of congress, twentieth district, New York; William P. MacCracken, formerly assistant secretary of commerce in charge of aeronautics; Thad E. Brown, general counsel, Federal Radio commission; Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce in charge of aeronautics.

Assemblyman Schmieg was the one selected as the Wisconsin representative on the advisory council.

PUPILS "PLAY" STOCK MARKET IN CLASSROOM

The bulls and bears of the stock market exchange are being cornered by eighth grade mathematics students in two mathematics classes of Miss Florence Penske, Roosevelt junior high school.

Each student has $1,000 to invest through his broker, who sits at the head of each row in the classroom. The student broker keeps a record of every investment, purchase and sale. At the end of two weeks, these young financiers will find out how much money they have made or lost on the stock market. Stock quotations are used from the list published in the newspaper every day.

Second Graduate Trip To Washington Starts Sunday Morning

EXPECT ABOUT 500 PEOPLE TO MAKE JOURNEY

Winnebago Co Graduates Accompany Outagamie Co Group

The second Outagamie-co educational pilgrimage to Washington, D. C., for rural school graduates, teachers, parents and friends, will leave Appleton at 7 o'clock Sunday morning.

With some 300 graduates and about 200 teachers, parents and friends aboard, the special train will leave Appleton from the Chicago and Northwestern depot for a four-day trip to the national capital and through the historic east. The trip again is sponsored by A. G. Meisinger, county superintendent of schools, who originated the idea of the educational trips and who was the first to take his entire graduating class from the rural schools to Washington.

Last year about 1,200 graduates, with parents, teachers and friends, went on two special trains. Diplomas were distributed on the steps of the national capitol, where commencement exercises were held. This year the same program will be followed. Last year the Outagamie-co graduates were the only ones to receive their diplomas on the capitol steps, and it is expected it will be the only class to do so again this year.

Winnebago-co going

Today was the last day for making reservations.

The Outagamie-co group will be joined this year by a rural graduate party from Winnebago-co. Oshkosh and the two parties will make the trip east together.

Leaving Appleton at 7 a. m., the special train is expected to arrive at Chicago at noon. From Chicago the special train will start east as soon as a transfer of the coaches can be made. The train will pass through the dunes country of Indiana. Meals for the tourists must be carried. Sunday night and Monday morning the special train will pass through Youngstown and Pittsburgh, where there will be an opportunity to see the blast furnaces of the steel mills in operation.

About daylight Monday the train will pass through the Cumberland and Blue Ridge mountains, along the Potomac river, to historical and picturesque Harper's ferry. Here there will be a short stop to enable the graduates to go ashore to visit some of the points of interest. The special train will reach Washington about 10 o'clock.

The graduates will walk a short distance to the U. S. capitol, while the baggage is being transferred to their hotel. The party will pose on the steps of the capitol for a picture and for distribution of diplomas. After this the group will be taken by government guides through the capitol building, into the senate and congressional chambers, through the hall of fame, etc.

Visit White House

Then the party will go to the Congressional library and the White House. The graduates will then be met by buses and taken to the hotel for luncheon. In the afternoon they will have their choice of taking one of two special sightseeing trips. The first will go to the Annapolis Naval academy, where they will view the grounds, buildings, battleships, etc. The second group will visit the Catholic Monastery, a reproduction of the Holy Land of Europe, thence to the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, through the Soldier's Home grounds, Rock Creek park, stopping at the Episcopal cathedral and the tomb of Woodrow Wilson and Admiral Dewey. The evening will be free.

Tuesday morning, after breakfast at the hotel, motor coaches and guides will take the graduates to the old and new National museums, Lincoln memorial and the Pan American building, returning to the hotel for luncheon. The afternoon will be occupied by a bus trip on a tour of the city, then to Alexandria, Arlington cemetery and Mount Vernon, and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. After dinner at the hotel the graduates will be taken back to the hotel for the return journey. The party will start at 9:30. Meals on the return journey will be served in dining cars. The party is due to return to Appleton at 7:30 Wednesday evening.

NEWSREEL REVEALS CANINE AROCRACY

The aristocracy of the canine population, exhibited at the seventeenth annual kennel club show at Oakland, Calif., will be shown in the Appleton Post-Crescent newsreel to run on the Appleton Theatre Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

The film will also portray amateur boxers from Italy and the United States in an exciting tourney in New York, the end of the international bike race when five destroyed the famous volodrome at Berlin, Germany an odd water pageant at Manila in celebration of annual Santa Martha's day; and royalty applauding crack oystermen in an international meet at Rome, Italy.

News paragraphs show a crowd of 40,000 at a military field mass at Washington, D. C. the special stamp issued to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the Civil War, and shoe factory maids reporting at work in Lynn, Mass. in debutante beach garb.

CONDITION OF PAINTER IMPROVED, DOCTOR SAYS

The condition of Charles Helden, a painter, 320 N. Division-st. who was severely injured in a fall from a ladder at the home of Mrs. Mary Sassen, 417 W. Commercial-st., Thursday morning, was improved Friday, according to the attending physician, Mr. Helden suffered a fractured skull received when his head struck a concrete sidewalk below the ladder.

PRINCIPAL AND 7 GIRLS IN DISPUTE ON PAJAMA MODE

Oakland, Calif.—(AP)—H. H. Cousins, high school principal, is a conservative on feminine styles. Seven of his feminine students are liberals.

When the girls appeared for classes attired in pajamas they were ordered to go home. Mr. Cousins said he would not permit the wearing of pajamas unless other schools in the city did so.

W. S. Givens, superintendent, refused to interfere, but said he personally approved of the information.

Today the students set out with the avowed intention of persuading girls of other schools to adopt the mode.

SOVIET COMMISSAR STAYS IN GENEVA

More Conciliatory Attitude Marks Relations With Other Diplomats

Geneva.—(AP)—Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff of Russia remained in Geneva today, exhibiting considerable speculation in diplomatic quarters in view of the adjournment of the Pan-European commission.

Having visited French Foreign Minister Aristide Briand yesterday, Litvinoff was believed to be planning conferences with representatives of other capitalistic countries.

He has been much more conciliatory in his official remarks this week than on his previous visits to Geneva, apparently wishing to obtain recognition for his proposed pact of economic non-aggression. It was referred to the sub-committee of the commission after M. Briand and Foreign Minister Julius Curtius of Germany had spoken kind words concerning his guiding principle.

When attending League conference in the city, Litvinoff has overthrown with sharp references to the members' sincerity and method of working. This time he limited himself to poking a little fun over what he termed the commission's sudden discovery that Russia was a part of Europe.

The sessions have been marked almost daily by friendly expression toward the Soviet delegates and the country itself by spokesmen to other European states. Observers are watching, therefore, for further signs of warmer relations between the exponents of the communist and capitalistic states.

RADSCH COMPETES FOR BOEING SCHOLARSHIP

Robert H. Radsch, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Radsch, 603 S. Walnut-st., senior student in Yale university, was a contestant in the second annual W. E. Boeing scholarship given by the Boeing School of Aeronautics, Oakland, Cal.

To be eligible the student must be able to pass the student transport pilot's physical test, rank in the upper third of his class in college, and write a 2,000 word essay on an acceptable subject in aeronautics. Mr. Radsch's essay subject was "Progress of Safety in Aviation."

Mr. Radsch is studying for international law at Yale, where he has won several scholastic honors. In his freshman year he won a national prize for an essay submitted to the American Chemical society. He was chosen in his second year as one of the scholarship students to study in German universities. After his return from Germany, Mr. Radsch returned to Yale to complete his junior and senior courses this year. He will graduate in June.

NINE SCOUT TROOPS RECEIVE HIGH RATING

Nine valley council boy scout troops received high ratings during the past month, according to M. G. Clark, valley scout executive. Three troops received 105 points in various rating divisions while six were awarded 85 points each. Troops 1, 3 and 4 received 105 points, and Troops 9, 11, 12, 15, 16 and 17 received 85 points each.

Points are awarded on the basis of attendance, outstanding activities, growth, troop committee meetings and advancement, according to Mr. Clark. Troops 8, 14 and 26 have not yet submitted their reports for April.

16 CASES OF DISEASE REPORTED FROM COUNTY

Sixteen cases of contagious disease were reported from Outagamie-co in the week ending May 16, according to a report received by Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, from the state board of health. Ten of the cases were reported from Appleton as follows: Chicken pox, 3; tuberculosis, 3; and mumps and diphtheria, one each. Other districts reporting diseases were: Village of Black Creek, mumps, 3; Combined Locks, mumps, one; Hortonville, diphtheria, one; and New London, scarlet fever, 1.

PHILATELIST RECEIVES FOUR SPECIAL STAMPS

Wilmer Schläfer, Appleton philatelist, has received four of the special stamps issued yesterday from Danville, N. Y., and Washington, D. C., in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the American Red Cross. The 2-cent bi-color stamp has a red cross in one corner, and the rest of the stamp is devoted to the figure of a Red Cross nurse kneeling with a globe at her feet. The design is taken from the 1930 Red Cross poster, "The Greatest Mother."

Recine.—(AP)—Directors of the J. I. Case company yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on preferred stock and $1.50 on common payable June 1 to stockholders of record June 12. The action set at rest rumors that a reduction of dividends was likely.

HIGH SCHOOL WILL AWARD 244 DIPLOMAS

Commencement Exercises to Be Conducted Thursday Night, June 4

When seniors of the class of 1931 walk up the aisles of Lawrence Memorial chapel Thursday night, June 4, and receive their blue and gold ribboned diplomas, it will mean the end of a high school career for 244 students in Appleton high school.

Herbert H. Heiple, principal, will present the class of 1931, which will be received by E. J. Rohan, superintendent of schools. Seymour Cmelner, member of the school board, will present the diplomas. The Rev. R. A. Garrison will give the invocation. As representatives of the senior class, Miss Ellen Balliet and Norman Clapp, will speak. Miss Blanche McCarthy is the faculty member in charge of the arrangements.

13 Is Lucky

Thirteen may be an ill omen for some folks, but it's a lucky number for newly-elected President Paul Doumer of France. Doumer was chosen 13th president of the nation on May 13. He is 74, the oldest chief executive to hold office in France.

PASSENGER FALLS TO DEATH FROM PLANE

Investigation Is Started in Ohio—Witnesses Say Victim Jumped

Youngstown, Ohio.—(AP)—A 700-foot plunge from an open cockpit airplane caused the death of Daniel Mills, 29-year-old amateur pilot and Youngstown tire salesman, under circumstances which remained a mystery today.

Two witnesses said Mills apparently jumped from the ship, but his widow and a brother, David of Cleveland, said they knew of no reason for suicide and believed it was an accident.

The fall occurred as Mills was being flown back to Youngstown yesterday after inspecting a ship in Cleveland. Pilot William Jones said they were near Niles, north of here, when the plane suddenly lurched. He glanced behind and saw his passenger was missing. Jones was sure Mills was still wearing a safety belt when they left Parkman, 50 miles from here, after a brief stop, and said he did not believe the fall was accidental.

David Mills suggested that his brother, who suffered from a bad heart, might have raised himself to catch his breath and was swept overboard by the propeller blast. Jones agreed this was plausible. Officials declined to comment in advance of a coroner's inquest to be held at Warren today.

Two miles railroad workers, G. S. Rogers and Dick Reese, told Jones and newspapermen they saw Mills stand up in the cockpit and an instant later saw him falling. By the time they reached him, he was dead. Coroner J. C. Henshaw of Trumbull-co said Mills suffered internal injuries and fractures of the skull, right wrist and left leg.

Jones had a difficult time righting his plane after the lurch when Mills fell and narrowly avoided crashing. He said he circled over the place and obtained the help of another Youngstown pilot and officials to find the body.

OSTEOPATHS RETURN FROM CONVENTION

Dr. Henry T. Johnson and Dr. Eliza Culbertson, local osteopaths, have returned from Fond du Lac where they attended the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Osteopathic association, held Wednesday and Thursday.

Speakers at the Wednesday afternoon session were Dr. George Laughlin, president of the Kirksville College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, who spoke on the Progress of Osteopathy; Dr. Theodore H. Larson, of the Chicago College of Osteopathy, who spoke on the Progress of Osteopathy; Dr. W. B. Truax of Milwaukee, who talked on Diagnosis of Rheumatic Diseases, and B. E. Kuehnie of the Employers Mutual Liability Insurance company, who spoke on Insurance and the Osteopath. On Thursday Dr. F. M. Still of Still Hospital, Sanatorium at Macon, Mo., talked on Diagnosis and Treatment of Mental Conditions, Dr. Laughlin on Gout and Its Treatment, Osteopathic and Surgical, and Dr. C. W. Pauls, Whitewater, on Foot Technics.

A golf tournament was held Wednesday morning, with luncheon at the golf course clubhouse. The annual banquet was held at the Retlaw Hotel Thursday evening.

New officers of the association are Dr. L. A. Jones of Janesville, and Dr. E. J. Elton of Milwaukee, who was elected to the executive committee. The next annual meeting will be held in Milwaukee.

RANKS SECOND AMONG STATE INSURANCE MEN

Carl W. Sherry, representing the Equitable Life Assurance company of New York, was second high in Wisconsin in a recent middle west contest sponsored by the company. were questioned about the alleged payment of protection money to the sheriff's department.

Hear Testimony

Following the John Doe proceeding, Governor Kohler was asked by District Attorney Staidl, to remove Giese from office. The governor ordered a hearing and appointed Frank L. Gilbert, a prominent Madison attorney who since has died, to hear the testimony.

At the hearing more than a score of saloon keepers and slot machine operators testified that they had paid protection money to Kelly; that they had repurchased slot machines and liquor making equipment which had been ordered destroyed; and that they had paid for protection of their businesses.

Most of the witnesses testified that their dealings had been with Kelly, although a few said they had talked with Giese. One man testified that Giese told him that any arrangements he made with Kelly were satisfactory to him.

Kelly, however, was the state's principal witness. He declared that the money which he collected was divided between himself and Giese. He testified that he sold slot machines and still equipment, which had been ordered destroyed, back to their owners with Giese's knowledge.

The former turnkey told of equipping a special office at the jail where saloonkeepers and slot machine operators could call to make their payments. Kelly also claimed that Giese attempted to pay him to leave the state when it was learned the investigation was to start.

CATHOLIC VETS SIGN FOR RALLY PARADE DUTY

Catholic war veterans gathered last night at the Elk club where Major Charles Green, marshal of the day for the Holy Name rally parade, secured names and briefly outlined work to be done. Another meeting will be held May 29 at the club when the parade plans will be completed. About 55 veterans attended last night's meeting.

EXPECT MANY COUNTY FARMERS AT PIG FAIR

Many farmers from throughout Outagamie-co are expected to attend the monthly pig fair on S. Walnut-st. in the public parking square Saturday, according to Joseph Hodgins, city sealer of weights and measures and custodian of the fair grounds.

The fair, which is usually held on the last Saturday of the month, will be conducted tomorrow because Memorial Day falls on Saturday, May 30.

BEG PARDON

The dissenting vote on the decision to defer the installation of the Elmer Clark sewer was cast by Alderman Mike Steinhauer instead of C. O. Davis, as stated in yesterday's issue of the Post-Crescent. Mr. Steinhauer objects to deferring it because he feels that cement is much cheaper at the present time, that the work would give employment to many of the city's unemployed, and because sanitary conditions in that locality demand the improvement, he said.

MAIL FINAL NOTICES TO TAX DELINQUENTS

Final notices to delinquent personal property taxpayers were sent out by P. E. Bachman, city treasurer, Friday, informing them that if the taxes are not paid immediately the accounts will be turned over to the city attorney for collection. Over 200 persons have not paid their personal property taxes.

LEGION AUXILIARY DIRECTS POPPY DAY SALE ON SATURDAY

Seeks to Beat Former Records — Receives 10,000 Poppies

American legion auxiliary of Appleton Saturday will attempt to sell 10,000 poppies in the annual Poppy Day sale. Every effort is to be made to exceed the sale records of former years, it was announced Friday by John E. Hantschel, general chairman.

Following is part of an appeal made public Friday by Col. Roy F. Farrand, commander of the Wisconsin department of the legion:

"The American doughboys and their allies marched, played, fought and died at a profusion of poppies. What is more fitting that once a year every citizen should buy poppies for remembrance? Each of the poppies was fashioned by the faltering hands of a disabled veteran, who received one cent for each flower. Profits from the sale will go entirely to the relief of the needy veterans and the widows and orphans of those who died.

"In the name of the soldier dead; in the name of their widows and orphans; in the name of the mothers who bore them and who will sadly thrill at the sight of the crimson flowers in our lapels, let us buy poppies for remembrance."

Hantschel Appeal

A similar appeal was made in a radio address by Mr. Hantschel over station WBEY, St. Norberts college from the Appleton station this afternoon.

Headquarters Selected

Sale headquarters will be established at Conway hotel and at the Hauer Hardware store Saturday morning, it was announced today by Mrs. Fred Heinritz, chairman of the auxiliary committee. Mrs. Heinritz and Mrs. Elmer Schaub will be on duty at the hardware store and Mrs. Harold Miller and Mrs. George Hogreiver will be at headquarters in Conway hotel.

Mrs. George Butth and Mrs. George Hogreiver will be at headquarters in Conway hotel.

Mrs. George Butth and Mrs. Blanche Junnes sold large poppies and wreaths in various retail business establishments in the city Wednesday and Thursday. The large poppies and wreaths will be used in preparing window displays tomorrow.

Last year 10,000 poppies were sold in Appleton, netting the legion auxiliary $484. The poppies were purchased at $22 per 1,000.

The fund was distributed as follows: State's share at 25 cents per member, $188; shoes and clothing for poor, $15.25; hospital work, $5 grocery, $47.87; C. Christmas cheer baskets for Appleton veterans, $28.52; blankets for bathrobes for veterans at National home, $20.50; state fund for Christmas cheer, $50; Wilson Scholarship fund, $10; hospital bill, $6.75; medicines, $1.90 and board for a poor child, $20. The auxiliary has a balance of $10.36 on hand.

financing of a new home or remodeling of an old one is not as difficult as it would appear at first thought, contractors building supply men state. There are several means by which construction can be paid for without placing too heavy a burden on the borrower. The "first mortgage" plan, which is available from individuals, insurance companies and building and loan associations. The institutions have been organized especially to carry on this kind of work. The borrower is usually able to obtain larger sums of money to finance the building of his home on a "first mortgage" plan from these institutions, and their plan of operation provides monthly payments principal and interest. In addition to the "first mortgage" home seekers often are able to obtain range for land contract which for very modest down payments. Building contractors and men sometimes are reliable sources for credit. On formal application at the office of the loan association, the property of the individual is examined and if found satisfactory loans of 60 to 75 per cent of the appraised value is loaned. An applicant subscribes for instant stock and the first payment usually includes 1 per cent for membership fee and legal expense. Usual interest asked is 55 cents per month per $100. Interest and principal must be paid monthly. The amount of principal paid, the dividends equals one-half of loan, the borrower receives a dividend in the way of discount on the interest, that is, at that time on the interest is reduced to 50 cents per hundred. MANY PLUMBERS ARE EXPECTED AT MEET

Daniel W. Mead to Be Principal Speaker at Fond du Lac Conference

Hundreds of plumbers from cities throughout the Fox River valley are planning to attend the second annual dinner and meeting of the Fox River Valley Plumbing and Heating Educational conference at Retlaw hotel Fond du Lac, next Tuesday evening, according to M. M. Hanson, itinerant instructor of the plumbing trade at Appleton vocational school. Mr. Hanson is in charge of arrangements for the conference. Daniel W. Mead, professor of hydraulic and sanitary engineering at the University of Wisconsin and one of the five men in the United States called into conference by President Herbert Hoover as a member of the Colorado river board to report on the feasibility of the plan for the Boulder dam project and the Colorado river irrigation development, will be the principal speaker. Mr. Mead will speak on "An Engineer's View of the Plumbing and Heating Industry." There is to be one general session, starting at 6 o'clock in the evening. One of the highlights of the program will be the presentation of indenture diplomas to apprentice plumbers, who have served the required number of hours to make them craftsmen. These diplomas will be presented by R. G. Knutson, Madison, member of the Wisconsin Industrial commission.

AUTOMOBILE PARKING SPACE

A second effort to definitely establish, through condemnation proceedings, the value of two lots on S. Superior street, which downtown merchants desire the city to acquire for parking purposes, was defeated in the city council Wednesday night. Mayor Goodland cast the deciding vote. Merchants who indorsed this movement because they believe it will materially improve the parking situation, especially on Saturdays, are disappointed by the action.

The property in question is located in a ravine which the city has been filling. As it presently exists it is of little commercial value, but when it is filled to the level of surrounding streets it will be useful for parking purposes, especially because of its location close to the business district. It has been estimated that the lots, when filled in, will provide accommodations for the number of cars that now must be parked in seven down-town business blocks.

The resolution defeated Wednesday evening was not to purchase the property, but merely to begin condemnation proceedings to ascertain its value. Mayor Goodland recently stated that the lots would cost the city $15,000, but real estate men asked to make independent appraisals have fixed its value at less than $3,000. At $15,000 it would be a poor buy for the city, but at $3,000 it should be acquired. The condemnation action would definitely establish the price. If the value fixed by these proceedings is too high, the city would not have to buy and the only investment would be the cost of the court action, not more than $300.

It is quite apparent that a desire to save this $300 was not the motive which defeated the resolution, because that same evening several of the aldermen who opposed the condemnation voted $700 to the American legion to help pay expenses of a July 4 celebration.

No doubt there is some justification for the attitude of some of the councilmen that it is not the city's responsibility to provide parking places for automobiles, but the fact remains that it is already providing parking places on its streets. Acquisition of other parking sites merely makes more space available, offers more facilities for people to do their trading in Appleton and to some extent relieves congestion on the streets.

It is certain that if other things are equal, people will do their shopping in the city that offers the most assurance of a place to park automobiles. Many other cities, some of them competitors for business from Appleton's trading area, have recognized this and have endeavored to provide accommodations for visitors.

Merchants, to whom parking space is a matter of vital necessity, received rather shabby treatment from the council, compared with its generosity to the American legion. But then the merchants haven't as many votes as the legion.

CAPTAIN HAWKS' RECORDS

Captain Frank Hawks is of the opinion that aviation is useless unless it is fast. As to how fast it must be for successful commercial operation must depend upon its competition in land or water transportation.

But he is demonstrating the possibility of going places with exceeding swiftness. He is not content with ordinary speeds of one hundred miles per hour, but says he wants to see the country slip past and that this sensation cannot be had at less than two hundred miles per hour.

With his American monoplane he has been cornering the record business and holds most of the principal inter-city records in the United States. He has to his credit the transcontinental, New York to Havana and return, New York to Detroit, Boston, Washington and many other records.

Not content with setting the pace in America, he invades Europe and flies from London to Rome, 900 miles over the Alps, in five and one-quarter hours, and for him London is only fifty-nine minutes from Paris. From London, Berlin 600 miles away, is reached in two hours fifty-seven minutes, arriving ahead of a telegram announcing his take-off. The usual time for passenger planes is six and one-half hours.

Hawks, like the feathered specie of his name, is a bird of passage. He and his records are here today and gone tomorrow. Speed is on the wing. Improvements in design and new inventions are continually accelerating the pace and the limit of air speed is not in sight.

THE TIME FOR BUILDING

"Build now," is a slogan that is not mere enthusiasm, but inspired by conditions of the compelling order that show its worth and good judgment.

While this is true in every form of building, a resumption of home building is particularly advisable by reason of the advantages manifest on every hand, as well as the fact that the present rate of home building in this country is not meeting with the annual requirement of new buildings, to say nothing of modernizing obsolete ones.

Former Governor Kohler has summarized with particular care, in an announcement recently given to the press, the advantages in home construction at this time. He said:

"Building material costs are the lowest since 1917, with exceptionally low prices in lumber and cement. There is a plentiful supply of building labor, with increased efficiency. Funds are available from banks and building and loan associations for conservative projects. Contractor efficiency has increased and considerable savings now may be made through skilled workmanship, better planning and labor saving. Real estate and improved building lots are available at the most favorable prices and terms in recent years."

Hereabouts hundreds of families are inadequately housed and other hundreds are living in homes sadly out of repair and lacking in the needful conveniences required by modern living standards, conveniences that are far from expensive.

In addition it is a well known fact that plentiful funds are lying idle in financial institutions and may be obtained at reasonable rates of interest for any worthy building project.

There is only one difficulty, the inertia to which human nature is subject when the business skies have not been as clear as on former occasions, and, although that is but a mental attitude, it is a thing which must be reckoned with.

The careful man, the man who studies conditions all about him and is equipped to take advantage of plain opportunities, will build now.

The other man will wait until building materials again touch the ceiling, labor is kept busy jumping from one job to another, building lots are going at a premium, and interest rates are correspondingly high.

And now, "when the iron is hot," is the time to strike.

Opinions Of Others

THE MILITARY CAMPS

This year's enrollment of young men for the citizens' military training camps has set a record in Indiana. Some county quotas were more than filled before the enrollment date was announced. The young men who were disappointed last year made haste to be among the earliest applicants in 1931. The tendency to look ahead has become so pronounced that the problem will be to distribute the opportunities on a fair basis. The experience of recent years has shown that former difficulties in raising the state's quota were due largely to lack of organization. As soon as the advantages of the camps were known, and the machinery to bring in the men was established, the question of filling quotas disappeared.

It is significant that much of the opposition to these camps has subsided. There was a time when sincere pacifists won the families of enrolled boys and urged them to spare their sons this contact with matters of war. These campaigns felt called on to rescue youth from any experience that might encourage warlike thoughts. They withdrew when they found that while the camps are conducted by the army and on the army plan, they are primarily citizenship camps, intended to give a young man some experience in a field of service to the people, and to stir his personal pride, especially in his physical well-being and his co-operative capacity, at an impressionable age. There still is some opposition to the camps from the group advocating nonresistance.

In recent years the proportion of young men sent to the camps from industrial and other business organizations has been increased. Employers have found that the training is very beneficial to young men needing the advantages of mass association and discipline. They report that the men return to work with an improved sense of responsibility and a new evaluation of the benefits of united effort toward a definite goal. It is probable that congress would feel justified in the appropriation for its benefit to industry and the schools, however, continue to contribute most of the quota. This sustains a proper balance, and makes the camps faithfully representative of the population.—Indianapolis News.

THE MASTER PLUMBER SETS US RIGHT

The standardization committee of the master plumbers' association of these standardized states is the latest authority to go hawking about my teachings. It seems the committee's chairman took up his paper one evening, got his pipe going well and settled back to absorb the day's scandals, but he had not been doing long before he was brought suddenly up and alert by one of those casual yet maddening assertions of mine, to wit, that sewer gas is not injurious to health.

Well, sir, the chairman could scarcely wait to get down to the office next morning and when his secretary came in a couple of hours later, patting her brightly mercurized and bewitchingly pursed lips with her marvelously maneuvered fingers to still the boredom that comes with the beginning of another long day in the dreary office, the chairman hailed right off and said: "Raise a letter, Miss Holium: Attn. Editor."

Dear Sir:

There has been brought to my attention..... Having gotten under weight the chairman reverted to the year 1880 when, he reminded the editor, sewer gas from the street mains was still backing up now and again thru the traps or whatever they called 'em in those ancient days, and so getting into houses and other buildings. Just what it did to the occupants of the house and other buildings the chairman of the standardization commission does not deign to inform us, but from the context one gathers it must have been terrible.

In a later epoch, before the dawn of the twentieth century, the master plumbers made a great discovery, nothing less than how to equalize the air pressure on the inlet and outlet sides of the trap—presently by running a vent out thru the roof from the outlet side. This, we gather, brought an end to the dreadful execution that had been done by sewer gas.

There is no doubt in the standardization committee chairman's mind, he avers, with a vast air of assurance and authority, that the venting of drains or sewers has done a great deal to protect the health of the American public, and in the interest of the 35,000 people in the plumbing industry in his own state he virtually demands that we publish this correction.

If this plumbers' society only had a good live committee on sanitary installations maybe I'd get a break with 'em, especially the sub-committee having jurisdiction over the agitation to discard hand faucets and install only foot pedals in all wash basins or sinks. But you see that's just my luck. There never is a committee that cares a hoot about any of my constructive suggestions. The committees are concerned only about my destructive criticism.

I repeat that sewer gas, tho it might be unpleasant in odor, has not now and never had a thing to do with health, except, of course, in cases where workmen have gone into sewers or man-holes and been overcome by the gas accumulated there.

No actual health authority or scientific authority can seriously entertain the notion that sewer gas escaping from drain or sewer into a house is in any way injurious to health except as an annoyance.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Testimonials and Warts

As an old reader I have excused your sarcastic remarks and replies to foolish questions, but I was disgusted at the "yeah" you gave Mrs. O. H. H. about her cure for warts. I do not believe in witchcraft but I do know that such things have happened. My own father, when a child, had seed warts removed by an aunt, the procedure being identical with the warts described gradually from the day his aunt pronounced the words "H. M. E."

Answer—Oh, yes? That's how so many fine testimonials get published too. Post hoc ergo propter hoc. Human nature, I suppose. Funny, tho, that faith in the incantation or charm or strange remedy is not at all impaired by the fact that thousands of individuals have warts and lose 'em without any apparent reason.

Practical Joker
Yesterday a practical joker offered to remove the snow from a girl's coat, and instead lifted the coat collar and caused the snow to go down her neck. I said that might have serious results, as I remember at one time you told about George Washington's death being caused by snow on his neck. Was I right? Did you ever say something of the kind? (S. G. R.)

Answer—No. I may have attempted some wisecrack which you took seriously. One of Washington's biographers tells how his secretary noticed a bit of damp snow on his coat collar when he returned from a ride about his plantation the day before he became ill. I assure you the application of snow to the young lady's spine did no harm. Alas, we'll never know just what caused Washington's death. The people who have charge of the remains refuse to permit us to conduct a postmortem examination.

Canker Sores
It might interest you that when a canker sore comes in my mouth the trouble persists until I visit my dentist. He finds a small cavity, fills it, and then my cankers go away. This has happened many times in recent years. (Mrs. E. C.)

Answer—It sounds reasonable enough. I believe canker sores are due primarily to injury by toothbrush, or by excessively hot things and secondarily bacterial infection from a septic focus in the teeth, tonsils, sinuses. When cankers develop, cease all toothbrushing; touch each sore once daily with iodine and glycerin half and half on toothpick. Use a dozen times daily and especially before and after food, a mouth wash of lukewarm solution of boracic acid, teaspoonful, in water, pint.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

BACK into town they came, by chance, upon a pretty Chinese dance performed by little native girls, all dressed in colors bright. A platform stood out in a park and Scouty shouted, "What a lark! Let's join the crowd and sit right down to watch this thrilling sight."

And so they settled down once more. Said Clowny, "What's the whole thing for? It must be someone's birthday!" Mister Travel Man laughed loud. Said he, "These dances, as a rule, are put on by some public school. When parents see their youngsters dance it makes them feel real proud."

The pretty dance was shortly over and then applause came in a roar. The Tynmites clapped their little hands to show they liked it, too. A little tot dropped to her knees and sang a number in Chinese. "I'd like to meet her," Clowny said, when her sweet song was through.

The Travel Man said, "Not today 'cause we must be upon our way. I know where there's a mule cart that will furnish us some fun. The mule's so kind he's safe and sound. We'll each take turns in driving 'round. And so they started walking though the bunch preferred to run."

They found the cart and, my 'twas queer. Said Clowny, "Hey, you lads, look here. It only has two great big wheels and they are made of wood. Let's all hop on and ride at once. I'll drive and do some clever stunts." The Travel Man replied, "All right, but drive just as you should."

"Don't try to pull off any tricks or you will get into a fix." The Tynmites then climbed aboard. The mule picked up his ears. Brave Clowny promptly cried, "All set!" And all the others yelled, "You bet!"

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — General Pershing is the most decorated of American soldiers, but there is only one sign of his multiple decorations he ever wears when out of uniform.

It is a tiny button reproduction of the ribbon of his distinguished service medal—the reward of his own government for his services as commander-in-chief of the army in France.

Others in both civil and military life wear that same ribbon. But there is hardly another American, living or dead, who could boast such an ancient foreign token of high service.

There is, for example, the British Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath, the French Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor, the Italian Grand Cross of the Order of St. Maurice Lazzaro, and other honors from a dozen more countries.

All the general's decorations, American and foreign, with the six campaign badges he is entitled to wear, would justify some 30 bits of ribbon on the breast of his tunic.

Seldom Worn
It's no use asking him about them. Inquiry would only cause him to turn the conversation to something he considered more important.

The bejeweled stars and crosses and medals are scattered about. Their care is entrusted to members of his office staff. They are in his trunks, in his office safe and elsewhere.

Of them all, except when paying official visits abroad where courtesy requires he wear them, the little distinguished service medal button is the only token seen.

And even that disappeared at the burial of the Unknown Soldier in Washington in 1921. When the general walked behind the casket from the capitol to Arlington cemetery, he wore only the victory medal, to which every man who served in the armed forces of the country during the world war at home or abroad is entitled.

Gestures
While he headed the commission to solve the territorial row between Peru and Chile, he formed the habit of wearing a carefully selected list of his decorations. This, however, was a little gesture calculated to increase his prestige among the Latin-Americans.

All his decorations are not in his possession. There is still in the hands of the state department a beautiful ornamented ceremonial sword presented to Pershing by the president of Venezuela. It is known as "The Sword of General Pershing."

The law permits distribution of stars, medals and crosses or any other type of decoration. But so far the legal minds of the state department have been unable to read a sword into this classification, whatever its name or significance.

So the weapon remains in governmental storage indefinitely.

REPLY TO HEFLIN

On May 22, 1917, President Wilson wrote a letter to Representative Hefflin of Alabama expressing surprise that the president's position regarding the attitude of the United States in the war against Germany had been misunderstood.

The letter was written in response to one by Mr. Hefflin to the president in which Hefflin called attention to speeches made in the House by two representatives who claimed that the president had said that the United States had "no real grievance against Germany."

Hefflin, therefore, suggested that the president, to correct a false impression, make a disavowal of the attitude accredited him by the two congressmen. In reply the president wrote, in part:

"It is incomprehensible to me how any frank and honest person could doubt or question my position with regard to the war and its objects. I have again and again stated the... wrongs which the Imperial German government has perpetrated against the rights, the commerce, and then they started down the road amid real happy cheers. (Copyright, 1931, N.E.A. Service, Inc.)

Seen And Heard In New York

about: He was leaning on a crumbling stone fence in front of an old brownstone house, facing the steeple of a church.

It was in that hour just before dawn, when the sidewalks are empty except for an occasional late homegoer. The city was barely breathing a faint murmur. Householders were in their beds, profoundly asleep, the troubles of tomorrow not yet upon them.

Only this old fellow was out... so lonely... loudly talking to the pavement, the brownstone tenements, and the church.

"Ol was born in a wee small place in Ireland, under a steeple like that, with the blessed shamrocks growing behind me... His voice trailed off. Then he waved away, shouting oaths to an imaginary companion.

Financiers' Tie-Game
The late George F. Baker smoked his first cigar and played his first round of golf at the age of 70. And it was J. P. Morgan who persuaded him to it, as John K. Winkler tells about it.

Baker tried out both diversions at the Jekyll Island club, the celebrated millionaire's winter retreat in Georgia. He was enthusiastic about both. One day enthusiastic friends ribbed him and John D. Rockefeller into a golf match.

It was a nip and tuck game. They played only eight holes. At the eighth Rockefeller was one up. Baker evened the score by holing a 10-foot putt. The score, a succession of sevens and sixes, was 54.

The doctor is a member of the Physicians Art club, which has an exhibition once a year. All but five members are painters. Those five are forming a new club to be known as the Haden Seymour club—named for the famous English surgeon-etcher. Hereafter it will have an independent showing.

UTILITY SEEKS MISSION TO REDUCE SERVICE

Applications of Power Company Heard by Railroad Commissioner

Applications of the Wisconsin Power company to reduce service between Neenah and Kaukauna, and to change the operating between Neenah and Kaukauna, heard before Andrew MacDonnell, Wisconsin Railroad Commissioner, at city hall Thursday afternoon. Mr. G. Kloes of the Power company testified that the demand for power at the present time, and suggested a reduction in the number of lines and a change in schedule. He stated that the proposed change would eliminate three buses between Neenah and Kaukauna, and from Appleton to Neenah, and from Appleton to Kaukauna, would make a difference of only a few minutes in waiting between buses. The first bus is morning for Neenah will leave at 5:30, and the first one to Kaukauna will leave here at 5:20. Kloes stated that the change would not hinder the working men in of the three cities from getting work at the proper time. Statistics were presented to show the use of the bus from Con-1 Locks to Little Chute to Kaukauna, which makes one trip in the morning and one in the afternoon, not warrant its continuance. An application of Richard Shipley for permission to operate motor vehicles for the transportation right between Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, Wausau and Mosinee was heard.

VALLEY SCOUTS REGISTER FOR CAMP

Fifty-five valley council boys have registered for camp at Lakes Reservation, Oshkosh camp, 10 miles southwest of Appleton, according to M. G. Clark, scout executive. Camp dates have been set for July 19 to Sept. 5. The youngsters are planning to stay at camp for two weeks. Approximately 95 campers have been scheduled, Mr. Clark says.

"ROBIN HOOD" TO BE PRESENTED AT COLLEGE CHAPEL

Event Will Take Place Saturday Afternoon—Second Play of Season

The Fox River Valley Children's Theatre is presenting "Robin Hood," by Owen Davis, as the second play of the season at the Lawrence Memorial chapel at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The legends and ballads of Robin Hood have furnished material for plays since the fifteenth century and have been produced in musical versions, comic operas, serious plays and movies. The story shows Robin Hood, in early youth, as a skilled Bowman. One day while walking through Sherwood Forest he was accosted by the King's Foresters. They having heard of his skill with the bow, tricked him into killing a deer out of season by daring him to shoot a deer. He made a marvelous shot without suspecting their trickery and they then arrested him for poaching in the King's Forest.

He was bound and dragged before the sheriff to be hanged, but on the way he managed to kill one of his guards and escape. After that he had no choice but to join a band of robbers who made the forest their home. His great skill and ambition soon made him leader of the band and attracted other brave men to join, chief among them being Little John.

With his loyal band, all of them sworn enemies of the cruel Norman barons who oppressed the poor tenants of the land, Robin soon became famous for his deeds of daring. His policy was to rob the wicked and rich and divide the spoils with the poor and oppressed.

Safe in the heart of Sherwood Forest, Robin and his men lived the life dreamed by every boy, carefree and full of adventure and sport, and the manner in which Owen Davis has handled the action of the play makes the band of famous characters live again for the audience.

There will be only one performance of the show, that on Saturday afternoon.

at the following schools: Badger school, town of Grand Chute, Arnold Schmitt, teacher; Industrial Hollow school, town of Center, Miss Ardy's Griswold, teacher; and Hillsdale school, town of Center, Miss Hazel Loos, teacher. Next Tuesday the pupils of Valley View school, town of Center, will hold their picnic at Pierce park in Appleton.

Who's Who On The Appleton-Post-Crescent

Number 65

(This is the sixty-fifth of a series of articles about members of the staff of the Appleton Post-Crescent. The articles will seek to acquaint readers of this newspaper with those persons as individuals and also will discuss the nature of their work. Members of the staff are presented in the order of their length of service. The sixty-sixth article will appear tomorrow.)

Were facetiousness our strong point, John Ash, advertising copywriter, would look well in his own Post Mortem column that appears every day on the editorial page of the Post-Crescent. It might run something like this: "S'funny, but John Ash hails all the way from South Bend, Ind., and has become a local boy making good. July 3, 1929, the city declared a holiday and celebrated for his coming to the Post-Crescent a day later. S'truth, he said them words himself. Wonder if he has found out yet that the state celebrated too? And as a matter of fact, it turned out to be a national affair before night followed day, slipping a bit of dark work over on it."

He started his mercenary adventures when he was a "small lad actively engaged in exercising a dandy case of whooping cough." He was hired at five cents per diem to keep his younger brother, like-wise afflicted, from infecting the neighborhood children.

Wonder if he thinks we don't know that dental work and a couple of long wisdom teeth are his two special interests. Of course, he says himself that he has the widest slice in gold in Outagamie-co., so we'll believe him this time. Do you suppose he cuts himself a piece of turf everytime he slices? He may include rejection slips, sleep and radio in his enjoyment list because he says he's interested.

Another wonder (can this be the seventh) is that we wonder if he has seen his first robin yet. We're all breathless to know.

Jonnie-the-Crowner.

EQUIP AERATOR WITH 7 COLORED ELECTRIC LAMPS

Appleton residents, who have never had the opportunity to see Niagara Falls at night, when the plunging water is illuminated with huge electric lights from the Canadian side of the Niagara river, soon will be privileged to witness a similar spectacle, although on a considerably smaller scale.

The new aerator of the city pumping station and filtration plant will soon be illuminated at night with seven 500 watt power lamps in green, red, purple, amber and other colors, according to A. J. Hall, plant superintendent. A large green lamp already has been installed and can be seen after 8:30 every evening.

The colored lamps will be installed below the 72 huge nozzles which shoot the fine particles of water high into the air. Six nozzles of the garden hose variety have been installed to complete the design in which the water is hurled into the air.

25 Members Of Lodge At Green Bay

TWENTY-FIVE members of the Royal Neighbors of Appleton attended the district convention of Royal Neighbors of America Wednesday at Green Bay, at which nearly 400 persons were present. The principal business of the convention was the organization of Brown and Kewaunee counties into a body to be known as Cherryland County association. Mrs. Eva Collette, De Pere, was elected president, Mrs. Anna Diederich, Green Bay, vice president, Mrs. Stella George, De Pere, secretary, and Mrs. Theresa Krivanek, Denmark, chancellor.

Miss Elna Bartel, supreme recorder, Rock Island, Ill., gave the principal address and Mrs. Clara Hoyt, supreme recorder, Antigo, conducted a question hour. Mrs. Elna Bartel, supreme recorder, Rock Island, Ill., gave the principal address and Mrs. Clara Hoyt, supreme recorder, Antigo, conducted a question hour.

Cities and towns represented were Fish Creek, West De Pere, Denmark, New Franken, Kewaunee, Luxemburg, Appleton, Kewaunee, Shoshone, Black Creek, Kaukauna, Seymour, Little Chute, Kimberly, Clintonville, Oconto Peshigo, Marinette, Neenah, Omro, Ironwood, Mich., Sheboygan, Antigo, Kohler, Lena, Madison Manitowish, Menasha, Shavanna, Oconto Falls, Two Rivers, and Fond du Lac.

The local lodge met Thursday night at Odd Fellow hall and planned for the Otago-Lodge convention to be held next Tuesday at Kimberly. Sessions will begin at 1:30 at the Kimberly club house. Several supreme officers will be present and Appleton officers will put on the work. Pupils of the Vesper Chamberlin School of Dancing will present a tap dancing program at the evening session.

At a meeting of Eagle delegates from Fond du Lac, Beaver Dam, Fremont, Oshkosh, Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, and Kaukauna Thursday night at Oshkosh, it was decided to engage a special train on the Soo Line to Rhineland, June 10 to carry visitors to the state convention of Eagles. Officials of the railroad were present at the meeting. Delegates to the convention will leave June 11, but the majority of attendants will not go until June 19. Committee reports were given at the meeting of the local lodge Wednesday night at Eagle hall. Officials of the railroad were present at the meeting.

The local lodge of Pythian Sisters was inspected by Mrs. Ada Schmutz, Neenah, at a meeting Thursday evening at Castle hall. Dinner was served at 6:30 and the inspection followed. Initiation of several candidates took place. About 50 members were present including several visitors from Neenah. Miss H. K. Pratt, past grand chief, and Mrs. George Schmidt, grand guard, were guests.

Several members of the J. T. Reeve circle, Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, attended the funeral of John Steward, Seymour, Thursday afternoon at Seymour. They include Mrs. Effie Eberhardt, Mrs. Kate S. Rhoads, Mrs. Emma Bruce, Mrs. Nellie Steward, Mrs. Blanche Kubitz, Mrs. Iva Shepherd, and Mrs. Evangeline Farwell.

Catholic Daughters of America will meet for a regular business session at 7:45 Monday night at Catholic home. Reports of delegates to the state convention at Kenosha this week will be given and the various committees will report.

VALLEY CLERGY IN PROCESSIONAL AT EXERCISES

The Rt. Rev. Harwood Sturtevant, bishop coadjutor of the diocese of Fond du Lac, Dr. A. D. Utis, rector of All Saints Episcopal church, and the Rev. A. Gordon Fowles, rector of St. Thomas church at Menasha, were a part of the processional at the commencement exercises at the Wisconsin State Normal School at Thursday. The Lord Bishop of Algoma, Canada, was the commencement speaker. Mrs. Sturtevant also attended the services.

COMMITTEE OF HOME SOCIETY DRAWS UP PLANS

The Appleton committee of the Children's Aid and Home Finding society met Thursday afternoon at the Woman's club. It was decided to hold the annual meeting June 18 at the club, after which there will be no more meetings until September. Miss Helen Wallis will be in her office at the Woman's club on Thursday instead of Tuesdays hereafter, according to an announcement made at the meeting.

Don't Make Mentor Fear Supervision

BY ANGELO PATRI

When all is said and done, the last work is with the teacher in the classrooms. I have lived with teachers and children for years and I have learned about their troubles and their joys. The teacher's chief trouble is the thought of the supervisory that is likely to enter the classroom any minute and find it very bad. When she feels that way something of the fear and unrest and irritation seeps through to the children. The atmosphere becomes tense. Discipline is difficult. Work lags. This is because the teacher was hurt, discouraged, ashamed.

But let the supervisor enter with a smile, let him say a word of appreciation or praise, and the whole school world is rose colored. The load rolls from the tired teacher's shoulders. Her face lights up. Her voice takes on note of joy and elation and admiration. The children rally to her and go forward like an army marching as one. So much power has the supervisor.

Now I know that the duty of the supervisor is to correct faults, appraise work, make helpful suggestions. His mission is criticism. But I know well that there isn't a class in a school anywhere in this world whose teacher does not do something well. That is the place of beginning for the supervisor. Pick up the one thing that is right and cheer for that. Leave the teacher and the class on the heights. There will be a time and a place for the correction and suggestion and helpful remarks. The teacher will be in a mood to receive them because she feels her attitude of the supervisor is understanding and sympathetic. She will listen gladly to all that is to be said, and do her best to act upon it.

Supervisors cannot afford to leave a teacher and a class feeling low. It costs far too much. It means a charge against the long list of values the school owes to the teacher. The spirit that is the light to the dollar that is the means. Anger, sorrow, shame, humiliation, regret, jealousy, once stirred in the teacher's mind, is not hard to rest without a heavy toll on the true values of the classroom work. Every child in the classroom pays. It costs too much. Before you can find fault with another's work you must first have established a way of communication. This is done only by winning the confidence and liking of the other person. Criticism, no matter how wise, no matter how honest and well intentioned, does not function unless the one who is under fire is with you in spirit.

Parents and all other persons set in authority over children or over those in charge of children, have much need of vision. They must have the seeing eye—and the understanding heart. They must be slow to judge, and quick to understand. They must long sincerely to help the child, to help the teacher, rather than assume the robes of the elect.

I have been a teacher now many years and I remember with gratitude the supervisors who found something in my work to praise, even when they disagreed with my interpretation of an idea. I remember with aching affection the words of praise my father bestowed upon me and I do not remember words of caution and advice and command he uttered when he knew they were needed. It is so with all teachers, with all children, with all people. We need a lift and we bless those who offer it. We all march better to music.

2 Societies Of Church Are Merged

MERGING of the Women's Missionary society and the Ladies Aid society of First English Lutheran church took place at a meeting Thursday night at the church. The newly organized society will be known as the Ladies Aid and Missionary society. There will be two meetings each month, one business and the other social. Officers will be elected in September. There will be two regular meetings in June.

The topic at the meeting was Missionary Work Among the Mexicans. Justine John Wickham of the serving committee consisted of Mrs. H. Kianzsch, Mrs. G. Krueger, Mrs. E. Kunstman, Mrs. F. Koch, Mrs. R. Krabbe, Mrs. A. Lautenschlaeger, Mrs. G. Lemke, and Mrs. N. Lallie.

Work for the summer was planned at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor society of First Reformed church Thursday night at the home of Miss Ruth Meyer, N. Division-st. It was decided that business meetings will be held the second Thursday of each month, but the Sunday evening meetings will be discontinued during the summer months. Plans were discussed for a picnic to be held Sunday. Fourteen members were present.

The sewing circle of the Women's union of St. John church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. Hauert, 727 W. Spring-st. Garments for the Emmaus Home at Marthasville, Mont., were finished. The members decided to give $5 toward the organ fund. Seventeen members were present. There will be no more meetings until September.

Circle No. 6 of the Congregational church, will meet at 7:30 Friday night at the home of Mrs. David Reese, 621 N. Oneida-st. This will be the last meeting for the year. A social hour will follow the business session.

Meagher Is Retained As Group Head

THE Rev. J. E. Meagher, pastor of St. Mary church, was reappointed state chairman of the retreat committee at the state convention of Knights of Columbus Tuesday and Wednesday at Racine. Others who attended from Appleton were C. E. Mullen, Dr. C. E. Ryan, Chief George T. Prim, and Max Bauer.

Father Meagher gave an address at the convention. Other addresses were given by Congregational Minister K. Reilly, Fond du Lac; Mrs. Trout, vice general of the Milwaukee diocese, and the Rev. W. P. O'Connor, St. Francis, state chaplain. Justice John Wickham of the state supreme court gave the principal address at a banquet attended by 1,000 delegates Tuesday evening. Plans to erect a memorial to Brother Joseph Dutton, Beloit, who died recently after many years' service among the lepers, were endorsed by the convention. The 1932 convention will be held in Appleton.

Father Meagher, C. E. Mullen, and Max Bauer reported on the convention at the meeting of Father Fitzmaurice council, Knights of Columbus, Thursday night at Columbia hall. Dr. Ryan and Dr. W. J. Poole gave talks on the good or the order. John S. Wynboorn spoke on Layman's Retreat and the first degree exemplification by the Kaukauna team headed by William L. Sullivan, grand knight. Reports of various committees were given and discussion took place on the May ball to be given next Wednesday night at Columbia hall. Cards and dancing will provide the entertainment. A lunch was served after the meeting to about 85 members.

The Story of Sue

MARGERY HALE
1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

ARAH was surprised when Clifford Becker joined her at the entrance to the old house where she had been living, but she didn't let him know it. She spoke and pretended that it was quite natural for him to be going along her way.

"Sarah, what do you know about this connection with this robbery?" he asked.

"I know that she's guilty, Clifford. The evidence is all against her. I've got proof. I haven't congratulated you on your marriage. . . . I can't think it's the kind of marriage on which you would want to be congratulated."

"The whole watch her words, Sarah. I didn't, and say nothing which would point to any doubt in the case which Jack had built up."

"Why did you marry her?" she asked suddenly.

"To get out of marrying another man who thought I'd asked her in a matter of minutes, I needed some money and Sybil was pretty serious with it. So you think that I was getting it from the bank?" she asked. "She told me she had none of her own, and she seemed serious enough."

"Sarah stopped walking and faced me. 'All I have to say, Clifford, is that you are a cad. You married Sybil Lester, and goodness knows I haven't any love for her, as her husband, now that she's out and out, you should be horse-whipped for turning on her.'"

"I don't know about that," Clifford answered. "She gave me a pretty good sum for taking the step."

"She paid you to marry her?" "Certainly, I wondered about it. But a man has to marry money, so I thought I might as well take it if she's mixed up in this racket. I had a hunch that she might have some information, but I didn't know she was the thief exactly. . . . I'd like to know it."

"You aren't a very good liar, Clifford, though goodness know you've plenty of practice," Sarah said, and her eyes regarding him very adly.

"You were wise to this. . . . I didn't pay you to marry her. . . . You wanted your share of the money, I know it. You're cowardly and sneaking and low down."

"Clifford swung around and grasped her tightly by the arm. 'I'm not an angel, young lady, but you're owing a little too much mud on me. I didn't think up the idea that most put old man Merryman back the bars, and I took no part in it, you hear me?' He shook her roughly.

"But you helped to carry it out," Clifford said. "I had come to Sarah, but, refusing to admit her own part, she wouldn't draw Clifford Becker into the tangled web. It would be a giveaway. But maybe she could get him to admit his part in it, by forcing his hand. If he did so, the last obstacle to putting her in the penitentiary would be removed."

"What makes you think that?" Clifford asked.

"You just spoke of your hazy moments. Wouldn't it have been possible, in one of them, for you to have confided in someone?"

"In whom?" The words shot out so fast they almost cut.

"Would you like to face the person to whom I'm referring?" Sarah asked. "For if you will, I'll have it arranged at once."

"NEXT: Clifford is caught in his lies."

In spite of repeated tubbings this darling dress will always look deliciously fresh and lovely. Fashioned of printed voile, soft and beautiful as chiffon, it holds its own for ever and a day.

The circular skirt poses modish circular shaped pleums around it, just below the hipline, so as to keep that important slim silhouette.

An exquisite effect is the capelet collar that merges into a bertha that meets the skirt pleum at the waistline.

EXERCISE AND DIET WILL GET RID OF BULGES

BY ALICIA HART

There is no denying the fact that the new clothes high-light the little, some figure.

You may manage to girdle yourself up nicely in one of the new clattering corsets. But there is nothing quite so disheartening to the woman who appreciates beauty as to realize that she has a bulge or two here or there that she doesn't really need.

These unnecessary bulges, alas, usually come where you want them least.

But all of these bulges can be done away with. And I am firmly convinced that no exercise on earth will do the trick alone. You might as well make up your mind that as you exercise, so must you diet. But diet only on the advice of a physician.

If you can go on orange juice for three solid days, with nothing else except your morning and after dinner coffee, then slide into a non-starch diet, you will be surprised how quickly you get hopeful about those unwanted bulges.

You can lose two pounds a day by a liquid diet of orange juice only. Have some at breakfast time with your coffee, then another glass of it at 10 o'clock, another at from two or three and another at dinner time, followed by a demitasse of coffee. Then, after three days, start on food again, but cut out all bread, potatoes, cake, desserts, rice, macaroni and other starches. You will lose from two to three pounds weekly and at the end of a month you won't know yourself you'll be so slim.

While dieting, do these exercises for reducing the legs, both morning and night:

1. Lie flat on the floor, stretch lazily, yawn, and then with your

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vance

DOLLY: Aren't you making a lot of excuses to convince yourself as well as everybody else in the world that you're a loving wife who is forced to stay away from her husband through absolute necessity?

If you weren't really enjoying yourself—if you hadn't found a new life for yourself which suited you better than the old one—wouldn't you be likely to find a way back home? As it is, you are really fairly contented, although you try to persuade yourself that you're aching with loneliness.

You've made new friends—you have an allowance which covers all your needs—and you are in the enviable position of being married, but perfectly free. So you continue to find reasons why it is impossible to return home, and you continue to talk of the glorious day when your husband will be able to join you in your new environment.

You must realize that you two are growing farther and farther apart. Your husband must have some life of his own. He can't be waiting patiently for you to come back, mooning constantly about his beloved wife. He must have his hands down at your sides, try to throw your legs up over your head and touch the floor with your toes.

2. Straighten out. Reach your arms above your head and bring them up and your body along with them, to a sitting position, then try to reach out and touch your toes, with your knees kept stiff.

3. Stand up, on one foot, holding to a table. Shake the other leg, from the hip, just as you would a rag doll. Change feet, shake the other. Then raise one leg up, with knee curved, until your knee is against your chest. Change legs and repeat.

Start your exercise easily and increase the length of time daily. You won't notice results right away. But you will eventually.

friends. He may very likely even fall in love. What is there to stop him? If he didn't make some sort of move to live his own life, he'd die of loneliness.

Tell yourself the truth. If you were really in love with your husband—if your first thought was of his happiness, then nothing would keep you away from him. You'd find a way to get back to him just as speedily as you now find ways and means to stay away from him. Don't fool yourself into thinking that this state of affairs is merely temporary and that one day you two will be a happily married couple again, because it can't happen. It's up to you now to decide whether or not, you want to make a real success of your marriage. If you do you must break your present mode of existence, and you must take yourself back home where you belong. Only in that way will you save your matrimonial ship from sinking altogether.

And it seems to me that if your husband still loves you and wants you to come back, he deserves your ready acquiescence in return for his long patience and unselfishness.

BUD: You can't blame your sister and other members of your family for interfering with your business—since that business does not seem to be of a particularly honorable nature.

Naturally your sister and her husband are concerned. Any grace attached to you places some stigma on them. They come in for as much criticism and gossip as you yourself, if you are discovered to be acting unethically. It's true that you are not being actually dishonest, but no one is going to give you credit for much character if you're found to be mixed up with the wrong sort of people.

Stop being obstinate. You know yourself that the sort of men you're associating with now, are not your kind. And you know too that nothing in the world would give you more than to hurt the sister you love so dearly. You're setting your face against those who think only of your good, because you can't bear criticism, and because you have a childish desire to defy convention.

If you'll think the thing over sanely and soberly, you'll snap out of this mood quickly enough. Take the advice of those who really love you and stop listening to the people who feel that you may be useful to them.

ALCOHOLISM CAUSES 103 DEATHS IN STATE

Madison—(AP)—Alcoholism was the direct cause of 103 deaths in Wisconsin last year and the probable indirect cause for many more, according to compilations released today by the bureau of vital statistics, state board of health.

The age group from 40 to 49 suffered heaviest with 33 deaths, while figures also show urban deaths exceed those from rural sections and only five women have been victims of alcoholism in the last two years.

The figures for 1930 were 10 less than 1929, the peak year.

The board of health says several other diseases are made more fatal through excessive use of alcohol.

Soon, Your Last Opportunity to enroll in this $249 tour of Europe!

To delay may mean to lose the finest summer of your life — the Outagamie County European tour for $249. To assure your own happiness, we urge you to write — now — for the full particulars of this exceptional trip.

Two days on the scenic St. Lawrence, five more on the Atlantic — so easy to travel in summertime, visits to Liverpool, Shakespeare Country, London, Paris, Versailles, Brussels, Antwerp and hundreds of intermediate points. This is what the Outagamie Country tour brings you, with all expenses — except incidentals and meals from Appleton to Montreal and return — fully paid.

A Canadian Pacific liner will carry you from Montreal to Liverpool and back again. Trained travel leaders will be on hand to show you how to travel and what to see. Efficient planning will permit you to see and remember much more than would be possible during an ordinary foreign tour. There will be notables to meet, odd places to visit, memories to carry back and keep.

In short, here is a tour to Europe which does things in an impressive manner, yet which costs little.

A line in the mail today will bring an attractive illustrated booklet, describing the scope of the tour and its purpose. You'll need this booklet to help form your plans for this summer. This is the greatest travel value in history. Surely, you'll want to take advantage of it.

SEE EQUALIZATION FEE BEING REVIVED IN NEXT CONGRESS

Claim Lawmakers Again Will Bring Up Matter if Farm Prices Do Not Rise

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—The equalization fee and the export debenture, famous proposals for agricultural relief of which were supposed to have been snuffed out as political issues, will be brought to life in the next Congress unless farm prices take a miraculous upward swing such as no one expects.

Thousands of letters have been coming into Washington, urging one plan or the other. Advice from the winter wheat belt say that farmers for the first time are displaying interest in them. While the farm bibles are making its loudest rears here and forcing the measures through to defeat by presidential veto or pressure it was often said that most farmers didn't know what the two plans provided and didn't care much as long as wheat was selling around a dollar a bushel.

Recently, however, wheat has been shooting down below 60 cents and other grain prices have been the lowest in many years. The farmers have been demanding action and requests also are being received for information about the equalization fee and the export debenture in which so many were previously uninterested.

Borah Promises Fight
Senator Borah of Idaho has promised to launch a fight for the export debenture and Senator Norbeck of South Dakota has promised to introduce a bill carrying the equalization fee principle in case Chairman McNary of the Senate Committee on Agriculture doesn't reintroduce his old McNary-Haugen bill.

Both plans are designed to meet the problem created by enormous exportable surpluses which depress prices and prevent farmers from benefiting from the tariff—which in the case of wheat is 42 cents a bushel.

Under the McNary-Haugen bill—which either will be reintroduced or succeeded by a bill quite similar—Congress would have created government corporations which would buy from the open market the surpluses of such commodities as wheat, cotton, livestock and tobacco, paying the "world price" plus the amount of our tariff on the particular commodity. Thus, if the price at Liverpool were 60 cents a bushel the government corporation would pay a farmer $1.02 a bushel. The corporation would buy wheat until an "American price" of $1.02 was established in the domestic market for all wheat. The farmer would actually receive that price, minus the equalization fee.

Would Sell Abroad
The corporation would then sell its wheat abroad at whatever price it could get. It would, of course, probably lose about 42 cents a bushel on all wheat thus bought and sold. Through the equalization fee that loss would be charged to the farmer on each bushel or other unit of his crop. The Federal Farm Board proposed in the McNary-Haugen bill would have estimated probable costs and losses and then have determined and announced the amount of the equalization fee to be collected on each unit. It was left to the board to decide in the case of each commodity whether the fee should be collected at the time of transportation, process or sale.

The McNary-Haugen bill was passed by Congress in 1927 and 1929 and was twice vetoed by President Coolidge on the ground that it was impractical, unconstitutional and class legislation. Coolidge contended that such a law would stimulate production and defeat its own purpose, although that argument had previously been countered with the assertion that in that case the automatically increasing equalization fees would deter farmers from increasing acreage.

Exporters Would Benefit
Under the export debenture plan farmers or cooperatives exporting would receive from the government certificates or "debentures" worth the amount of our tariff on the quantity exported. Anyone who exported a thousand bushels of wheat, for example, would receive debenture certificates worth $420. The government would not cash the certificates but would accept them in payment of import duties and the assumption is that importers would be glad to buy them at approximately face value. As with the McNary-Haugen measure, the theory is that the debenture plan would immediately throw wheat into the export market until the American price had reached the "world price" plus the amount of the tariff.

Past debenture proposals have provided flexible debenture rates so that they might be reduced in case of undue increase in production.

President Hoover has been as firmly opposed to the debenture scheme as he and President Coolidge were to the equalization fee. In the last Congress the Senate adopted one variant of the plan and finally wrote it into the tariff bill, from which it was eliminated by administration pressure when the bill went to conference with the House.

PLAY FIRST OUTDOOR BAND CONCERT TUESDAY

The first outdoor band concert of the 1931 season will be played Tuesday evening at Pierce park. It has been announced by Edward F. Mumm, director. The concerts will be continued every week during the summer excepting the two weeks during which the band is at Camp McCoy, Sparta. An elaborate program is planned for the first concert.

NEW RATE PROGRAM NOT YET PUT BEFORE INTERSTATE GROUP

Interstate Body Awaits Formal Notification from Railroads

Washington—(AP)—Despite the decision of eastern railroads to seek modification of the Interstate Commerce commission's consolidation plan and the more recent proposals of nearly all carriers to ask rate readjustments, the commission has received no formal notification of either project.

President Hoover announced in December that negotiations undertaken at his suggestion had brought agreement between the four major eastern roads, exclusive of New England, to submit revised plans to the commission which would facilitate consolidation. It was said today, however, no indication had been given as to when this plan would be presented or whether the carriers had been able to work out the minor, but troublesome, details which were incomplete at the time of the White House announcement.

In the meantime, the carriers have announced a determination to ask rate adjustments to produce $100,000,000 more annual revenue. Not in direct competition with buses, pipe lines and waterways, adjustments downward are planned in some instances to meet this competition.

Belief is now current at the commission that the rate increases, involving long, intensive studies, will be filed prior to the consolidation agreement.

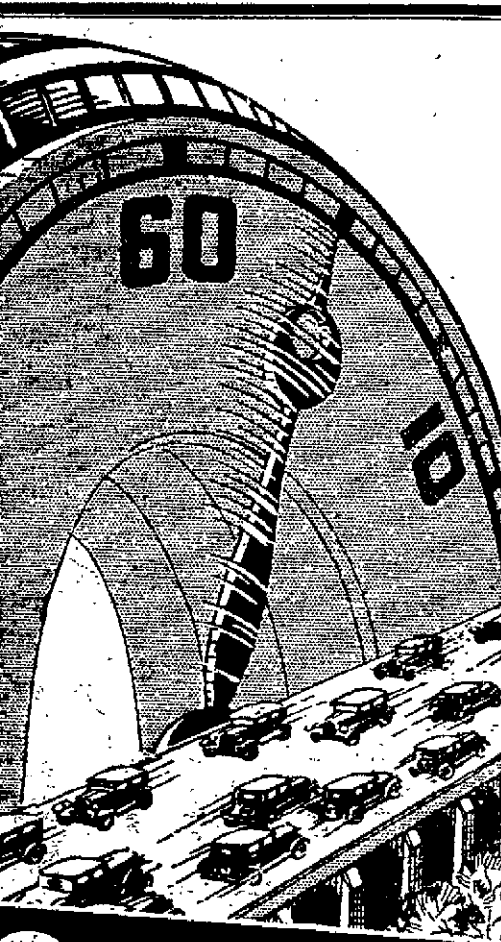

Opposition in the senate to the proposed increases, which already has developed on the ground that they would be unjustified at this time. On the other hand, labor, official publication or organized railway workers, has taken the position that the greater revenue accruing would speed business recovery.

As a quasi-judicial body which would be called upon to pass upon the rates, the commission has refused to comment upon them. However, Commissioner Eastman gave a possible indication of his views in a recent address.

Declining to discuss directly the proposed increases, the commissioner said "the prior question which the railroad managements must consider before such a proposal is made to us is whether it is wise and would result in actual gain, especially at a time when all industries are suffering and when no other is contemplating, so far as I am aware, an increase in prices."

He added that he did not intend to imply at this time he considered the proposal unwise.

CHAMP DOG TRAVELER IS DEAD IN CHICAGO

Chicago—(AP)—Rowdy, champion traveling dog of the United States, is dead. The big 11-year-old animal was poisoned and after a brief illness died in an apartment on the thirty-first floor of the Medinah Athletic club where its owner U. J. "Sport" Herrmann lives.

For the last ten years Rowdy has attended every convention of the Shriners all over the nation and Canada. The dog has followed its master in parades over the city streets and has taken a stand with the outer guards at convention doors to await adjournment of the session.

Rowdy has met more theatrical personages than is the privilege of many human beings. Likewise Rowdy traveled to more remote places and greater distances than many persons. In 1925, Rowdy went to the Arctic with Commanders Donald B. MacMillan and Eugene F. McDonald.

ORDER DESTRUCTION OF NOXIOUS WEEDS

Theodore Albrecht, named weed commissioner at the meeting of the common council Wednesday evening, announced Thursday morning that all noxious weeds in the city must be destroyed before the heat seed and spread to adjoining property.

Mr. Albrecht stressed particularly the importance of aborting the growth of the Canadian thistle, English charlock or wild mustard, goat beard, quack or quack grass. Unless noxious weeds are destroyed, street department workers will cut them and charge the cost to the property owners.

RETAIL STORES CLOSE DOORS MEMORIAL DAY

Appleton retail business establishments will be closed at 5:30 Friday afternoon, May 29, and will not be reopened for business until the following Monday morning, according to A. J. Geniesse, chairman of the retail division of the chamber of commerce. With Memorial Day falling on Saturday, May 30, stores will be closed all day. A similar situation will exist on July 4, Mr. Geniesse says.

SLAYER AWAITS SENTENCE FOR KILLING THREE

Medford Man Refuses Attorney and Enters Plea at Arraignment

Medford (P)—Joseph Fleischmann, 35, who shot and killed his wife and two children while apparently crazed by home brew beer, was held today without bond for sentencing in circuit court after pleading guilty to three counts of first degree murder.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace O. N. Blakeslee, the farmer refused retention of a lawyer offered him with the comment it "wasn't necessary" and entered his guilty pleas.

Fleischmann went amuck Wednesday night with a deer rifle, killing his wife, Mary, 34, and two of his sons, Alvin, 7, and Albert, 8. His other three children, Marie, 12, Josephine, 4, and Dale, 2, and a neighbor were terrorized for five hours, according to information given Sheriff G. R. Baird, by Fleischmann as he dashed about the farmhouse calling them to come from hiding places. There were "six more" he wanted to add to the death list, he said.

Calm at times, Fleischmann forced the neighbor, Anton Kummer, to help him drag the bodies of his victims to one side where he covered them with a sheet. From time to time he raised the sheet and called the four to join him in blessing the bodies.

Two other persons also were menaced by the farmer's rifle. He suddenly prodded Kummer with the gun, Kummer said, and ordered him to run. Kummer fled to the Rev. Gregory Kreuter, Medford Catholic priest, to come to the house. The priest arrived with Otto Huber. They too were ordered to view the bodies.

They escaped with Kummer to the priest's automobile while Fleischmann fired at them. From a neighbor's house, they called the sheriff. Fleischmann fled to a nearby wood but returned to the house where Baird and his deputies found him unarmed. The sheriff said Fleischmann had been treated previously for alcoholism.

The shooting was believed a climax to an argument Fleischmann had with his wife regarding the loss of his job as a highway construction worker.

On the Air Tonight

By the Associated Press

A night attack on New York from the air, by the advance guard of more than 650 planes which will descend on the city Saturday afternoon will be described at 9 p. m. Friday over the WISN-Columbia network. Thirty-five big bombers will circle the city. The maneuvers are part of the army week celebration.

President Hoover will introduce Dr. Robert A. Millikan, eminent American physicist, to the radio audience when the famous California educator addresses the first annual assembly of the National Advisory Council on "Radio in Education" in New York city. The broadcast will be heard over WGN, the NBC stations and the Columbia network.

Dramatic events on a pioneer trip down the Mississippi river from Minnesota to St. Louis, including an encounter with a Sioux war party, will be enacted over WISN and Columbia at 8:30.

"The Sport of Purple" march, Arthur Pryor's own composition, will be the concluding number of his program over WISN and Columbia at 11:15 p. m. Other selections are the marches "St. Julien," "The Victors," "Our Director," and "Ma Belle."

A correspondent recently submitted the above deal with the request that it be bid and played correctly.

Of course, looking at all four hands it is easily seen that East and West have a Small Slam either at Spades or Clubs; yet with the proper pre-emptive opening bid of Four Diamonds by South, they are unable to even obtain the privilege of playing the hand.

Pre-emptive bids of Four of a Minor, based upon 8 to 9 probable tricks inclusive of 2 Quick Tricks principally in the suit bid, are generally recognized. But so seldom do we run across one that is genuinely proper and obtains the desired result. It is indeed refreshing to come upon one which happens to be so perfect.

West, of course, does not dare overcall with either Four Spades or Four Hearts, for he has but four cards in each suit. On the other hand a double in such situation is not considered informative.

Army, over WIBO and NBC stations at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

A double of more than one at No Trump or three at a suit is for business. Indeed a double of three of a suit is considered optional as far as partner of doubt is concerned.

North having been warned of South's potential holding cannot show his Hearts and East, with but 1 1/2 Quick Tricks in hand, does not feel like showing either his weak five card Spade suit or his six card Club suit. Hence, South, the Dealer, obtains the declaration for his pre-emptive opening bid of Four Diamonds.

The saving made by North and South in this particular case happens to be very great and illustrates why we should retain the pre-emptive bid of four of a Minor but should not consider an opening bid of three of a Minor to be of such a nature.

Salient Points of Bidding

Contract and Auction: Both at Contract and at Auction South, the dealer, makes the pre-emptive bid of Four Diamonds and the other three players pass.

The Play

West opens the King of Spades and Declarer wins the trick by trumping. Declarer leads four or five rounds of trumps and then leads a small Heart. Unless West is so foolish as to play the Ace of Hearts to the first round, thereby dropping his partner's King, East and West will make two Hearts and two Clubs, defeating the contract but one trick.

Mr. Whitehead will answer one question at a time concerning your bridge problems. Write to him care of the paper, enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope. Copyright 1931 by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.

DRY LAW VIOLATOR GETS 6-YEAR TERM

Adams Wis., Man Also Sentenced to Pay $6,000 by U. S. Judge

Madison (P)—William Wilson, Adams, Wis., today was under sentence of four years and fined $6,000 as the result of a prohibition raid at his cafe where agents said they found 45 gallons of alcohol along with a quantity of various liquors. PUPILS GIVE EXHIBITION OF SCHOOL WORK

Virginia Schultz and Rhoda Luedte Tie for First Place in Music Test

Special to Post-Crescent
Seymour—On Wednesday evening there was an exhibition of school work given in the various rooms of the high school. At 8 o'clock in the school auditorium a music memory contest was held. Twenty-six pupils, selected from the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, participated. Miss Joyce Wenzel, supervisor of music, played parts of music selections on a phonograph and the pupils wrote the names of the selection, the composer and his nationality, having to spell all the names correctly. The papers were then corrected by five people selected from the audience. Miss Virginia Schultz and Miss Rhoda Luedte, tied for first place having a standing of 99 per cent. Miss Beverly Dean won second place with 98 per cent and Miss Janet Bates and Miss Angeline Kruetz tied for third place with 97 per cent. First prize was a loving cup, second prize a silver medal and third prize a bronze medal.

Thirty-six pupils from the grades were presented with pictures, with a seal attached, as a reward of merit for perfect attendance for the school year.

A few friends surprised Mrs. F. H. Dean on Tuesday evening in honor of her birthday. Those in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. William Strassburger of Appleton, Mrs. E. K. Miss Enid Walsch, Miss Joyce Wenzel, Miss Hazel Janzen, Miss Selma Homan and Mrs. Arnold Ahlman.

Memorial services will be held next Sunday morning at the Methodist Episcopal church. A special invitation to attend has been given to the members of the G. A. R., members of the Veterans Relief Corps, Spanish War Veterans, American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary and other patriotic organizations.

The services will begin at 11 a. m. with the singing of hymns.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Werner were Sunday visitors at the home of J. C. Mielke at Appleton on Sunday.

Miss Marie Kline, county nurse, superintended a picnic in Sritzel's grove Tuesday afternoon for the girls of the seventh and eighth grades. Games were played and the lunch consisted of Weiner sandwiches, pop, ice cream and toasted marshmallows.

On Wednesday afternoon the grades of the Seymour public school and pupils of the rural schools had a parade on Main-st. headed by the high school band. After marching the length of Main-st they went to the farm grounds where they gave a demonstration of folk dancing and the rural pupils held a track meet.

Horace Freeman and Christ Karow attended a meeting of the Standard Oil Co., employees at Green Bay on Monday evening.

At the regular Tuesday dinner of the Kiwanis club, Tuesday, Paul V. Neveiman, district governor of the Kiwanis, was the principal speaker. Carol solos were sung by Jean Piel and Carol Klock presented several dance numbers. Both were accompanied by Miss Ethel Nagle on the piano.

The Ladies auxiliary society of the Congregational church will serve a dinner Friday evening at Dean's hall for the society and friends in honor of their honorary president, Mrs. F. H. Dean, the occasion being her eighty-second birthday. Miss Lottie Griffith will be honored at the same time.

ALBERT HOXIE DIES AT ST. PETERSBURG

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Word has been received here of the death of Albert Hoxie, formerly of New London at his home in St. Petersburg, Fla., last week. He left New London in 1895, and became one of the first citrus growers in St. Petersburg. He was called a pioneer of Florida, and had been active throughout his life in the interests of his adopted state. He bought extensive acreage about the city in which he lived, which had been divided into city plots and become the locations of some of the city's finest residences. In addition to his land interests he was a director of the Exchange National bank and the First Savings and Trust company in Tampa.

SOFTBALL LEAGUE PLAY OPENS SOON

First Games on Schedule to Take Place Next Wednesday Evening

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Wednesday will mark the opening of the New London Kittenball league. A schedule of games has been drawn up. Officers of the league follow: Melvin Huntley, president; Carroll Jeffers, secretary, and Carl Pellenz, treasurer. Contrary to first plans, Hattions will not enter a team this year.

Eight teams will make up the league, and 14 games make up the schedule. The teams and their managers follow: Plywood-Bordens, Melvin Huntley; Hamilton, William Schoepke; Bean City, Weyman Schimke; American Legion, Ray Frahl; Cristys, Carl Pellenz; Lutheran Men's club, Carl Krueger; Press Republican, Carroll Jeffers. With the addition of an eighth team the league will be complete.

Games will be regulated by the official Kittenball regulations adopted by the league officials. The twelve inch ball will be used, each manager to furnish two bases and an umpire. Replacements in a team's lineup must be furnished to the officials two weeks before he can play and all teams scheduled to play must be on the ground at 6:45 or forfeit the game. Lists of players must be presented not later than 9:30 on Saturday evening.

REPORT SHOWS COUNTY ASSETS OF $947,513

Clerk Outlines Financial Standing at End of First Quarter

Current assets of Outagamie-co on March 31, according to a report prepared by John E. Hantschel, county clerk, were $947,513.63. Mr. Hantschel's report was based on findings of auditors for the firm of Riley, Penner and Benton, Milwaukee accountants, who this week completed the first quarterly audit of the county books.

In addition to the current assets the report lists $614,100 as a bonded debt to be collected in future levies. This is listed as an asset but it also is listed as a liability, thus being offset on the balance sheet.

Assets include cash of $654,456.75; tax certificates owned by the county, $122,161.55; illegal taxes, $206.47; accounts receivable, $584.87; poor claims receivable, $4,352.58; and delinquent real estate taxes of $165,773.32.

Liabilities of the county are listed at $137,601.72. These include the following items: due the state for normal income taxes, $116.84; due the state for surtaxes, $274.87; due the state on income taxes, $146.05; due the state for excess delinquent taxes, $750.66; Bovina-Black Creek drainage district, $89,828.12; due Kaukauna school district, $499.28; inheritance taxes due state, $78,382.08; tax redemptions, $2,598.55; advance payments, income taxes, $13.19; municipal court fines, due state, $322.50; circuit court suit tax, due state, $27; county school tax, $25,000.

In Three Groups

The balance of the county's assets are included in three groups, labeled special fund balances, highway funds, and fund balance of expense levies and appropriation accounts. In the first group, the special fund balances, there are 13 items, three showing overdrafts and the other ten showing balances. The total balance in this group is $225,557.46. Overdrafts of $4,066.07 are noted in the sanatorium fund, $401.66 in the training school fund, and $48.96 in the teachers' institute fund. The overdrafts in the training school fund will be made up later by state appropriations which had not been received when this accounting was made. Balances reported under this group follow: asylum fund, $48,246.44; school library fund, $2,600.18; soldier's relief, $3,042.51; blind pension fund, $5,262.96; mothers' pension fund, $37,871.50; bonds and interest, $6,349.95; dog fund, $6,349.95; courthouse trust fund, $106,154.46; old age fund, $4,154.03; and cow testing fund, $62.89.

Thirteen items also are listed under the highway fund grouping and two of these items show overdrafts. One is the state patrol fund, which is an overdraft of $20,019.16 and the other is the snow fence fund, overdraft $61.75. The patrol deficit will be made up when a state appropriation is received. Under the present system the county must first expend the money for the patrol work. This is later refunded by the state. When the audit was made the refund had not yet been received. Balances were reported for the following items:

Fund Balances.
County and town aid roads, $3,213.43; bridge fund, $137,001.85; snow removal, $16,045.04; county-state road and bridge fund, $14,682.61; road construction, $20,512.47; town and village allotment, $20,522.50; county garage fund, $749.87; county patrol fund $73,295.77; bridge emergency fund, $6,158.89; removal of old walls, $6,225; revenue from county machinery, $25,105.21.

Thirteen items also are listed under the final or third grouping. Three overdrafts are reported here as follows: supervising teachers, $4,041.80; special health bonds and interest, $441.41; and agricultural agent, $2,245.62; home demonstration agent, $1,122.91; health clinic, $29.76; county nurse, $2,174.81; motor police, $2,672.27; per diem and mileage for clerks, $165.92; aid to fairs and associations, $11,150.

GET PROMPT ACTION ON LOAN APPLICATIONS

World war veterans who now make application for loans on ad-justed compensation certificates, will get immediate service on them by the veterans bureau at Milwaukee, according to announcement made by bureau heads. The rush that started when the new law went into effect has subsided and loans now are handled within a few hours after they get to Milwaukee. Application forms by Outagamie-co and Appleton ex-service men should be made through Alfred C. Bossert, county service officer.

T. B. IS BIG MENACE TO DISABLED VETS

Madison—(P)—The greatest single menace to the lives of war veterans in Wisconsin is tuberculosis, according to the state board of health. The board makes this statement on basis of the death rate, which shows that the male age group between 30 and the early 40s suffered greatest from that disease. Of the 1,622 deaths in the age group last year, 245, the largest from any single cause, were from tuberculosis.

Gladiolus Has Increased In Popularity Recently

JAMES G. MOORE
College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin

Probably no other commonly grown garden flower has increased in popularity so rapidly in the past few years as the gladiolus. Much of this increase in popularity has come about because of the really marvelous work done by gladiolus breeders who have taken a very mediocre garden flower and so changed it that in variety of forms and color it surpasses most, if not all, of our other garden species. One would seem to be justified in saying that for the last few years the gladiolus has been the vogue in garden flowers. Every season I am asked many questions concerning the details of growing this garden favorite. I will try to answer some of those questions now.

Usually one of the first questions asked is: "What is the best soil for gladioli?" There are three principal things which determine the desirability of a soil for growing gladioli. They are: type of soil, physical condition and fertility. If one could have a choice of soils, he would probably call it a sandy loam. This type of soil naturally meets nearly all the ideal requirements for growing gladioli, and if it needs correction, it is usually much more easily modified than either lighter or heavier types.

Much Manure Needed
Unless manure is used in large quantities, it is usually desirable to apply commercial fertilizers. It is probably best for the average grower to use a complete fertilizer. If you decide upon this method, purchase a high grade material, such as one of the specially compounded garden or potato fertilizers. It can safely be used at the rate of 2 to 5 pounds per 1000 sq. ft. if broadcasted, or 5 to 6 pounds per hundred feet of row. It should be applied before the plants are up and should be worked into the soil.

Another method of using commercial fertilizers is to put 5 pounds of acid phosphate or bone meal per 50 feet of row in the bottom of the trench in which the corns are to be planted and cover it with an inch or two of soil on which the corns are set. Nitrogen supplying fertilizer, either nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia is applied at the rate of 2 to 3 pounds per 1000 square feet, just before the plants appear above ground. In applying the fertilizer over the entire surface of the tract to be planted, it is a good plan to mix it with dry soil or sand to facilitate more uniform distribution.

Intensive culture of the gladiolus has brought to light several diseases, some of which are very destructive. Control measures are yet not fully developed and there is considerable controversy as regards the efficiency of various methods and materials used. Nearly everyone will agree, however, that sanitation is an important factor in the control of any of the diseases. The principal thing in sanitation is discarding corns which show evidence of disease. As there is frequently no indication of disease except under the old leaf scales, or tunic, they should be removed and the corn inspected. Discoloration, shrunk areas, or any unusual condition should arouse suspicion. It is best to discard a corn showing such defects. The only exception to this rule is possibly in the case of expensive corns. In such cases, if the affected area is small, it may be removed and the corn disinfected. Frequently corns so treated will produce healthy plants.

Another sanitation measure is to avoid growing gladioli two successive years on the same area. This is particularly important if the preceding planting was infected with disease. Under such conditions at least two seasons should intervene before planting gladioli again on the tract.

Don't Plant Too Soon
Factors determining the time of planting to insure having flowers at the desired time are variety and size of corn. One who desires very early flowers will select an early variety and plant large sized corns just as soon as he thinks he is safe from reasonable frost injury. Most of us will play a little safer by delaying our planting until there is little or no likelihood of frost injury. Corn planting time is considered safe.

would be to plant large corns of early and medium sized corns of late varieties late.

FIND EVIDENCE OF UNREASONABLE WAGE CONDITIONS IN STATE

Minority Report Finds Some Wages Lowered to Continue Employment

Madison—(P)—Evidence of unreasonable wage conditions in Wisconsin were discovered by a special assembly committee during recent investigations, the majority report filed Thursday by the committee said.

The majority report was signed by Assemblyman Ben Rubin, Marshall Reckhard, Edward Kiefer, all of Milwaukee, and John Sieb, Racine, and William Bay, Kaukauna. A minority report was signed by Assemblyman Carlton Mauché, Fond du Lac; Nels Larson, Neenah; Michael Laffey, Milwaukee, and Frank Panzer, Oakfield, said the testimony was conflicting and that some wages were lowered in order to continue employment.

The testimony submitted under oath by 19 employers, the majority report said, "showed conclusively that wage reductions had taken place in 88 per cent of the cases, while 12 per cent had not reduced wages. In some cases, the bonus had been arbitrarily taken away, thereby decreasing the earnings of the workers from $5 to $10 a week.

Impossible to Get Data
The committee said lack of time and funds, coupled with unwillingness on the part of employers to make complaints, made a comprehensive study of wage reductions impossible. In addition to wages already reduced, the committee said, "the investigation revealed the methods used by outside influences in their efforts to induce Wisconsin employers to still further reduce wages; and the committee desires to condemn such tactics as detrimental to the best interests of the state."

In conclusion the committee report urged the enactment of an unemployment insurance law and legislation which would give the industrial commission sufficient power to inquire into the status of wages in all industries of the state.

The minority report said in part: "The investigation seems to have been caused by the very low wages which are paid in the tobacco warehouses in Madison and elsewhere."

"... It is far more important to consider what can be done to regularize and distribute employment than to try to place the responsibility for existing conditions upon employers who are doing their level best to keep at least some of their men employed."

"Displacement of labor by machinery, and the resulting great increase in production render desirable, if not imperative, a reduction in the hours of labor... a uniform eight-hour day should be established."

The state should be an example for employers in this respect."

FARMERS IMPROVING GROUNDS, BUILDINGS

Many farmers throughout the county are making improvements to their grounds and buildings. Arthur Devenne, town of Grand Chute, is constructing a new silo and has completed graveling the driveway to his barns. Albert Steffen, town of Center, has just completed an addition to his barn. George Langlotz, town of Center, has finished reshingling his residence.

THE MAN WITH THE "HAIR-TRIGGER" TEMPER

He was irritable at the office, and grouchy at home. His enemies increased, his friends became fewer. Then one day his doctor told him the truth. He had been handicapped by constipation for years. It had brought headaches and constantly irritating ills to make him "touchy." It had stolen his energy and good nature.

His doctor suggested eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly. And in a few days he was a changed man, cheery, ambitious—and on the road to success and happiness.

Constipation is so unnecessary. It can be overcome so easily, so pleasantly by eating delicious Kellogg's ALL-BRAN: a delightful, ready-to-eat cereal.

Two tablespoonsful of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily are guaranteed to prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In stubborn cases, serve ALL-BRAN with each meal.

Use this natural method and avoid the dangers of habit-forming pills and drugs. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron, which builds up the blood.

Serve ALL-BRAN with milk or cream, with fruits or honey added. Delicious when combined with canned peaches. Use in cooking too. Sold by all grocers in the familiar red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

CONVICT LABOR PLAN IS BACKED BY GAME BOARD

overnor's Reforestation Proposal Is Supported by Commission

Madison —(P)— Gov. LaFollette's advocacy of prison labor in reforestation work has the support of a conservation commission, the special assembly committee investigating the commission was told by William M. Hays, director of the La Follette reforestation fund, yesterday.

Mr. M. Hays said the commission would join the state board of control in carrying out a program of hiring prison labor on projects which could not be financed for any years if depended on free labor.

The commission listed for the committee several duties which lack funds have prevented carrying out, such as: Opening roads into large areas which are not quickly accessible to fire fighting crews; developing water supplies for fire fighting; disposal of slash on forest roads; "in which the state has a 40 per cent interest;" fire line construction on state and county forests.

Forest improvement work which the department includes preparation of planting areas and an expanded planting program, expansion of nursery to provide more seedling stock, and improvement of the department's equipment, and, necessary, will provide transportation between camp and work for prisoners and equipment.

"We will select areas where work is most urgently needed, providing prisoners, lay out the work and instruct how it should be done. We will furnish the needed tools and equipment, and, necessary, will provide transportation between camp and work for prisoners and equipment."

"We will gladly give permission to the board of control to build permanent camps on state forest land and sufficient funds are available in the future this commission will also provide more temporary or portable camps so prisoners will be near the work."

The special investigating committee questioned Stewart W. Hays, state game warden, for two hours yesterday and learned that the state is the most lenient in the state on violators of conservation laws. Hays backed an affidavit introduced Tuesday which he stated he had seen District Attorney Earl Kennedy, Oneida, shooting ducks on the open

Men Bathers Have Serious Problem Around Hollywood

BY JESSIE HENDERSON (Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press) Hollywood — (CPA) — What on earth are the men going to do about their shoulders on the beach? Oh, with a moon, of course, the shoulder problem will take care of itself the same as usual. But in the daytime, what?

The bathing season here is well under way. It opened with a bang, the bang directed at men's bathing suits, and the bang has developed into a pretty continual barrage.

Last year the cops kept in fine condition by chasing into the hinterland any man bather who appeared only in pants and without a tunic. This year the cops or two or three towns will be all out of breath from pursuing over hill and dale any man bather that unfastens both shoulder straps, the indecent thing, and the protest that his doctor told him to take a sun bath will get him nowhere except into the hoosegow. If water of Tomahawk lake. He said he was certain the man was Kennedy as he used a pair of "unusually good field glasses."

Asked why he had not apprehended Kennedy, Hays said the district attorney had pointed out he had three witnesses against his single testimony, and he felt he could not convict without due evidence.

"Kennedy is not as vigorous as he might be in the prosecution of game law violations," Hays said. "In several instances he has laughed at evidence I have presented and the defendants were later convicted."

the beach towns keep on thinking up new regulations, you'll have to take your sun bath after dark.

Not but what a regulation is often justified. The popular belief is that the sun ruins the backless and frontless bathing suit racket. People who believe in the regulations are pointing out that while the average man bather minus a tunic may be a bit of a shock, the plump 'un is a calamity. Accordingly a number of towns bordering the Pacific have passed a rule which allows only one shoulder strap to be unbuttoned.

There are nearly a dozen beach towns within easy motoring distance of Hollywood, and until the beach rules get standardized it looks as though there might be nearly a dozen different sets of regulations. Complications are added by the fact that often the bather can't tell where one town ends and the next begins. He needs a road map, because while in one town it may be O. K. to have a pearly shoulder to the sun, in the next the pearly shoulder may get him a ticket.

Of course, he can join a beach club. These have high fences extending into the water, and rumor has it that inside these boundaries a bare shoulder is practically nothing. Women's bathing suits? Oh, the women were all trained last season. In fact, the cops hardly caught their breath in time to start out after the men.

MOTHERS GUESTS AT U. W. OVER WEEKEND

Miss Louise Wagner, Daughter of Professor, Chairman of Event

Madison —(P)— Several hundred mothers of University of Wisconsin students were here today for the annual Mothers' weekend. In their three days visit, which opened today, they will be afforded a first-hand view of college life from the classroom to its social end.

Miss Louise Wagner, daughter of a professor and a student in the university, is chairman of the event. Miss Wagner under whom several dozen students are functioning in planning the week-end, says the entertainment this year will concentrate on "student atmosphere." To insure success to the project, she has pledged from Harefoot club, all-man show organizations, that it will put on several skits; the Men's glee club, which has promised a program, and Orchestras, women's dancing group, which is to give an evening performance. In addition to the student program, a dinner to honor the visiting mothers and a reception by President and Mrs. Glenn Frank are being arranged.

Senior swingout, the code's farewell to her undergraduate days, is to be held May 22, while Madison pastors have pledged sermons in honor of "mother" for May 24.

The reception plans are in charge of Betty Brown, Tulsa, Okla., and Walter Graebner, Wausau, Arthur Wadsworth, Ft. Thomas, Ky., and Katherine Ehrler, Milwaukee, who will supervise the dinner party, while Helen Cole, Atlantic, Ia., is in charge of invitations.

Special features are being directed by Mary Strading, Marion, Wis.; Jean Powers, Battle Creek, Mich.; will edit the official program. Duncan Jennings, Wilmette, Ill., is in charge of financing.

Publicity for the week-end is being handled by Fritz Stenge, Tomahawk, who has as his assistants, John Reynolds, Winnetka, Ill.; Fritz Bolder, Monroe and Gretchen Zierath, Sheboygan.

STATE BUSINESS IS STILL AT LOW LEVEL

Madison —(P)— Wisconsin's business in April continued at the low level that has characterized it this spring, according to the Bureau of Business Information, University of Wisconsin. It used April, 1930, for the comparison, and made computations from Federal Reserve figures.

Decreases over April, 1930, were recorded at 12.6 per cent for the entire state, 13.9 per cent for the eastern section, exclusive of Milwaukee; 15.6 per cent for Milwaukee; 18.8 per cent for Green Bay; 9.2 per cent for Oshkosh, 12.9 per cent for Sheboygan. The western and northwestern sections of the state showed a 13.2 per cent decrease with Ashland at 17.5 per cent, Chippewa Falls, 19.6 per cent; Eau Claire, 12.4 per cent; Hudson, 11.8 per cent; per cent; La Crosse, 11.8 per cent, and Superior, 23.9 per cent.

The figures showed a 54.9 per cent falling off in building permits with non-residential structures 83.5 per cent under 1930.

Public employment offices showed 171 applicants for every 100 jobs as compared with 158 for each 100 in 1930.

Manitowish —(P)— A mason's strike among workers at the new Woodrow Wilson Junior high school under construction here was ended in short order yesterday. The masons walked out because a fellow worker had been discharged in a manner they said improper under union rules. They went back to work when advised by union officials they failed properly to notify their employers regarding the proposed strike.

RAINBOW VETERANS TO ELECT OFFICERS

Officers will be elected for the 1931 term at the monthly meeting of the Appleton Rainbow Veterans at their cottage on Lake Winnebago Monday evening, according to John E. Hantschel, secretary. Following the election, there will be a lunch. Present officers are: Major Lothar Graef, president; Harvey Klitner, vice president; Mr. Hantschel, secretary; August Arens, treasurer; and Robert Merkel, historian.

HIGHWAY COMMITTEE WILL MEET MONDAY

The county highway committee will meet Monday afternoon at the courthouse according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk. Road work for the season will be reviewed.

WHO Sells It?

Some meats, like a Missouri Mule, are 'without pride of ancestry or hope of posterity' — the markets that sell such meats of inferior quality buy them for "Sale Purposes."

You know the name is very important when you buy a Car, a Radio, or anything else in which the real value is concealed. The name of the Market from whom you buy your meats will tell you what you ought to know about Meats before you make your purchase. The name VOECKS BROS. is a household word throughout Appleton and vicinity as far as Quality Meats are concerned.

For over 35 years Voecks Bros. name has meant the Highest Quality "Selected" meats — Sausages — and poultry. It has meant a maximum in value and positive satisfaction in meats. That's why Voecks Bros. can advertise their meats without superlatives and without far fetched claims. That's why day in and day out you'll get complete satisfaction in Voecks Bros. Meats.

RURAL PUPILS TAKE PART IN ATHLETIC MEET

Hortonville Host to Competitors from Western Half of County

BY W. F. WINSEY
Seventy-five pupils of the rural schools of the western half of Outagamie county completed for the highest honors in the ninth annual athletic contest of the county on the fair grounds at Hortonville Thursday forenoon, before an audience of approximately 200 children and adults. Medals were awarded to the winners of first, second and third places in each contest.

The preliminaries and the finals were planned by A. G. Meating, county superintendent, as honor goals for the physical exercises that are a part of the daily work of the pupils of the rural schools of Outagamie county. In conducting the Hortonville contest, Mr. Meating was assisted by A. L. Collar, supervising teacher, who acted as secretary, D. A. Morgan, principal of the Hortonville high school, who acted as announcer, and James Nelson, athletic instructor of the Hortonville high school.

Some of the outstanding winners were: Carmen Van Stratten, of Liberty Bell school, who won two firsts, Rita Wittman, of Holy Angels school; Vera Thorson, Island school; Louis Tiesling, Happy Valley school; Chester Nelson, Medina school; Carl Rosler, Hickory Grove school; Francis Bohman, Stephenville schools; Andrew Hanson, Clover Lawn school; Sylvester Gregorius, Holy Angeles school; Donald Ort, Hill View school; and Janet Young, Cedar View school.

Wine Potato Race
In the potato race for girls, Janet Young, Cedar View school, drove first place; Erna Schroth, Hill View school, second; and Fern Bechard, Bear Creek school, third.

In the balancing test for girls, Vera Thorson, Island school, was awarded first place; Ada Wunderlich, Hill View school, second; Ruth Schneider, Hortonville school, third; and Iva Christensen, Bear Creek school, fourth. Other entries were: Martha Page, Grand View school; Helen Cooney, Oak Park school; Elenor Elsie, Triangle school; Phyllis Van Dyke, Little Chute school; Esther De Groot, Lone Hickory school; Iabel Miller, Shiocton school; and Doris Burg, Valley View school.

In throwing the base ball for distance, Carmen Van Stratten, Liberty Bell school, won first by making a record of 146 feet; Erna Schroth, Hill View school, won second; and Regina Tennie, Pershing school, third. Other contestants were: Marion Henningsen, Island school; Fern Bechard, Dvalyn Hanson, Janet Young, and Celia VanElsen, Combined Locks school.

In the standing broad jump for girls, Rita Wittman, Holy Angels school, clearing 7 1/2 feet, was awarded first place; Carmen Van Stratten, Liberty Bell school, second; and Mary Leneved, Cedar Row school, third. Other contestants were: Gladys McNutt, Knowledge Hill school; Regina Tennie, Pershing school; Janet Young, and Theresa Young, Triangle school.

In the 75-yard dash for girls, Carmen VanStratten, Liberty Bell school, won first place; Celesta Kasper, Pleasant Corners school, second; and Viola Grode, Holy Angels school, third. Other entries were: Ida Prentice, Dale school; Gladys McNutt, Knowledge Hill school; Evelyn Hansen, and Janet Young.

In the 100-yard dash for boys, Louis Tiesling, Happy Valley school, was awarded first; Andrew Hanson, Clover Lawn school, second. Other contestants were Harold Bock, Dale school; Alvin Wege, Bear Creek school; Edwin Schimke, Jefferson school; and Alvin Kelsner, Shiocton school.

Chinning the Bar
In chinning the bar, Chester Nelson, Medina school; Carl Rosler, Hickory Grove school; and Francis Bohman, Stephenville school, tied on 15 times. Other contestants were: Emory Dorn, La Follette school; Donald Raiser, Bear Creek school.

Surgeon General

New Surgeon General of the U. S. Army, Col. Robert U. Patterson, above, has just been appointed to succeed General Merrill W. Ireland. General Ireland will retire next June.

George Kennedy Countryside school; and Malen Strong, Pleasant View school.

In the running broad jump, Andrew Hanson, Clover Lawn school, won first place by jumping 14 feet and 11 inches; Louis Tiesling, Happy Valley school, won second; Francis Lamb, Hortonville school, third. Other contestants were: Alvin Wege, Frederick Hoffman, Elder Row school; Arnold Warning, Countryside school; and George Wagner, Sunny Hill school.

In the baseball throwing by boys for accuracy, Sylvester Gregorius, Holy Angeles school hit the target three, time out of a possible, five; Gerald Krueger, Sunny Hill school, twice; and Francis Prentice, Hortonville school, twice. Other contestants were: Roland Prentice, Dale school; Carl Fielding, Hickory Grove school; Chet Nelson, Medina school; Harliff Roloff, Cedar View school; Edward Schuler, Combined Locks school; Oscar Eyer, Jefferson school; and Donald Johnson, Shiocton school.

Ort Wins Jump
In the standing broad jump for boys, Donald Ort, Hill View school, jumped 7 feet and 7 1/2 inches and won first place; Andrew Hanson, Clover Lawn school, won second place; and Louis Tiesling, Happy Valley school, third. Other contestants were: Chet Nelson, Medina school; Alvin Wege, Leonard Hansen, Elder Row school; George Kennedy, Countryside school; and Harold Lambie, High View school.

To entertain the children and older people the Hortonville Commercial club conducted women's nail driving contests on the fair grounds, chewing contests, cow calling contests, whistling contest, guessing number of beans in a jar, women's foot race, shoe tying contest, cracker-whistling contest, and a score or more of other contests.

In the evening guests and entertainers danced to old time music.

RECOMMEND 5 BOOKS FOR COLLEGE ALUMNI

Five books are recommended to the alumni of Lawrence college in the May Alumni Reading list. The list includes "Fatal Interview," by Edna Millay, a book of sonnets written with characteristic grace and depth of feeling; "England's Crisis" by Andre Siegfried, a careful and stimulating study of one of the causes of international conflict.

AUXILIARY DIRECTS SALE OF POPPIES

Members of Organization and High School Girls to Sell Flowers

Kaukauna—Ladies of the Legion auxiliary will conduct the annual sale of poppies Saturday. The street corners in the business districts will be patrolled by auxiliary members and a number of high school girls. The sale will begin at 6 o'clock in the morning and will continue until 6 o'clock in the evening.

Mrs. Antone Reith is in charge of the committee conducting the sale. Announcement has been made by the general committee that merchants wishing poppies for use in decorating windows may obtain them at the Reith Variety store on the north side and the Gerend's Millinery store on the south side.

A contest will be held between the high school girls assisting in the sale of poppies and prizes will be awarded to those bringing in the largest returns.

WHIP-POOR-WILLS IN TWO SOFTBALL WINS

Kaukauna—Nittingales were defeated by the Kalpua Bakers, 13 to 5, in a City league softball game Thursday evening, and the Whip-Poor-Wills won a fast game from the Staidl Pulpmakers 3 to 7. In a postponed game between the Whip-Poor-Wills and the Regenuss Brewers Fernal pitched the former to an 8 to 7 win. North Side Merchants easily defeated the Andrews Oils, 11 to 5, in a postponed game. Friday evening the Kalpua Bakers of Columbus versus the Mueller Boots at St. Mary's grounds and the Merchants Transfers versus the North Side Merchants at the playgrounds. The last is expected to be one of the feature games of the league, the Merchants showing up as the league leader and strongest team on the north side and the Transfers picked as the strongest team on the south side.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR FIRST GOLF TOURNEY

Kaukauna—Plans for the first of a series of golf tournaments on the Kaukauna golf course have been completed for Sunday, May 24. The first tournament will be a blind bogey meet at 18 holes. MAGGOT FLIES ARE NOW ATTACKING CABBAGE PLANTS

Expert Tells How to Treat Crop to Avoid Damage

BY W. F. WINSEY
According to Phil Bixby, president of the Appleton Cabbage Growers' association, maggot flies are showing up in the early cabbage beds on warm days in large numbers.

The flies, somewhat smaller than the house fly, do no greater damage than to deposit clusters of eggs at the base of the tiny cabbage plants. The maggots, however, attacking roots of the plants may destroy a bed in a few days, cause lots of extra labor and expense, and set back the time of transplanting.

As a bait to attract the flies, and keep them away from his cabbage plants, Mr. Bixby plants radish seed in every seventh row in his cabbage beds and about the outside of the bed. The radishes grow more rapidly than the cabbage and certainly save the cabbage plants for some time. Last year the radishes in Mr. Bixby's cabbage bed were devoured, leaves, stems and roots by the maggots.

Mr. Bixby and many others in Brown and Outagamie counties tried poisoning the maggots on the plants before transplanting.

The growers are not agreeing on the value of poison as an exterminating factor however. Some say that the use of poison saved enough plants for transplanting and others that applying the poison was a waste of time and money. Perhaps the care exercised in the application of the poison was the determining factor.

In making the poison solution one ounce of corrosive sublimate is used in eight gallons of water, according to C. F. Fluke, of the college of agriculture. The rate of application is one gallon to each 35 feet of row. To get the second batch of maggots, a second application should be made four days after the first application. No metal containers should be used in handling the solution.

To apply the solution a candy pall is used. The liquid is directed on the row through a rubber tube attached to the bottom of the candy pall.

To get the best results the plants should be applied before the plants are injured, directly on the plants after the rows have been hoed or cultivated. Hoing or cultivating the rows raises ridges along the rows that serve as dams to direct the poi-

EIGHTH GRADE CLASSES LEADERS IN BANKING

The eighth grade classes in Roosevelt junior high school led the school list of banking deposits for this week. Ninety-one per cent of the class banked this week in comparison with 96 per cent in the leading seventh grade last week. The seventh grade was second with a percentage of 87 and the eighth grade third with 85 per cent. The number of students banking dropped from 173 to 164.

URGE USE OF GAS IN FARM TRACTORS

Agricultural Engineers Find This Fuel Is Best Suited for Purpose

When it comes to making a choice of tractor fuels, gasoline is to be recommended in preference to kerosene or distillate, according to Gus Sell, county agent.

The increasing use of tractors on farms brings up the question of fuel more frequently than any other about tractor operation, and the answer, based upon the opinion of agricultural engineers, is that gasoline is the best fuel.

According to F. W. Duffee, of the Wisconsin college of agriculture, the poorer lubrication obtained when kerosene or distillate is used means more rapid wear of the pistons, cylinders, and piston rings, than when gasoline is used.

The high boiling point of kerosene and distillate makes it necessary to start the tractor on gasoline to warm up the engine sufficiently to secure vaporization of these fuels. If after switching onto kerosene or distillate any of this fuel is unvaporized and therefore unburned, it will tend to accumulate on the head of the piston or on the walls of the cylinder. During the compression and power strokes, therefore, it will be forced past the piston into the crank case. This, he points out, tends to dilute the lubricating oil and very material-ly spoils its lubricating qualities.

Tractor operators could avoid, if necessary, to pay more for gasoline than for kerosene or distillate because of the better results obtained, Duffee indicates. At the present time, however, some satisfactory low grades of gasoline can be purchased for about the same price as these other fuels. Good grades of gasoline can also be purchased for only a few cents more than distillate.

son to the roots of the plants, the only place where it can do any good by coming in contact with the eggs and maggots.

MERSHBERGER HERD TOPS CALUMET-CO TEST ASSOCIATION

Holsteins Produce Average of 1,548 Lbs. Milk or 53.5 Lbs. Fat

A herd of registered and grade Holsteins, owned by Lew Mershberger, produced an average of 53.5 pounds of butterfat each during April to top the Calumet County Cow Testing association, according to the monthly report of Rudy Rosenau, official tester. The 10 cows produced an average of 1,548 pounds of milk each for an average test of 3.45 per cent.

The highest producing cow in the association was a registered Ayrshire, owned by Robert Hacker, which produced 1,896 pounds of milk and 73.9 pounds of butterfat, an average of 3.9 per cent.

The total number of cows in the association is 393, of which 22 were not milking. Of these 119 produced 40 pounds of butterfat or more. The average per cow was 347 pounds of milk or 34.5 pounds of butterfat, an average test of 3.64 per cent.

The following cows produced over 65 pounds of butterfat last month:

C. M. T. C. APPLICANTS SHOULD BE VACCINATED

Appleton and Outagamie county boys who have filed application for Citizens' Military Training Camp training, and who want to be fairly certain of going, should receive the necessary medical treatment and have certifications of vaccination and inoculations forwarded to proper authorities, according to Lieut. Raymond P. Dohr, county C. M. T. C. chairman.

The county applications are almost double the quota set by the Sixth Corps Area of the war department at Chicago. However, the state quota is not filled and if boys in Outagamie-co receive necessary medical treatment immediately and certifications are forwarded to proper authorities the boys stand good chance of getting the call first and filling the quota from counties which have not reached their goal.

17 COUNTIES TO SEND DELEGATES TO MEETING

Waukesha—(AP)—County agents from 17 counties are expected to meet here May 27 to take up ways and means of improving Wisconsin's farm and roadside markets.

The conference, called by Charles L. Hill, commissioner in the state department of agriculture and markets at Madison, is fostered in response to requests from the South-eastern Wisconsin Fruit Growers' cooperative, composing growers in Kenosha, Waukesha, Milwaukee and Ozaukee counties. Other counties to be represented at the meeting are Sheboygan, Chippewa, Rock, Fond du Lac, Washington, Racine, Brown, Oconto, Waukesha, Winnebago, Wood, Door, and Dane.

According to A. V. Pomeroy, marketing specialist of the state agriculture department, it is hoped to work out a definite set of standards, plans and specifications for a uniform system of farm markets. A sign and slogan to identify the markets will be submitted to the conference for approval.

Traveling Man Tells Health Secret

Philadelphia, Pa.—L. Lambertson of this city, traveling salesman, is widely known for his exuberant health. Knowing the hurried life travelers must lead, it is all the more surprising. Interviewed recently, Mr. Lambertson said "I find that travel, with its irregular hours and change of food, tends to constipate. For that reason, a bottle of Pluto Water is always in my bag. I find that it affords speedy relief, even in the most stubborn cases. I recommend Pluto Water to every man who travels a great deal."

Pluto Water is invaluable, not only as a relief from constipation, but as a preventive. Take a small quantity each morning upon arising, diluted in flavor, aroma and richness because no other coffee is roasted as Hills Bros Coffee is roasted... evenly... continuously...

A FLAVOR THAT DELIGHTS YOU EVERY TIME YOU TASTE IT... A FLAVOR THAT CAN ONLY BE PRODUCED BY HILLS BROS' PATENTED, CONTINUOUS PROCESS THAT ROASTS A FEW POUNDS AT A TIME—NEVER IN BULK

COOKING food in large quantities is risky business. You know that. You are far more certain of perfect results if you work with small amounts. You control the mixing, the seasoning, the cooking—everything.

Roasting coffee in bulk has its risks also. That's why Hills Bros. roast only a few pounds at a time by their patented, continuous process—Controlled Roasting. By this exact method an even roast is guaranteed. No berries are overdone, none are underdone. Naturally, a perfect flavor, such as no other coffee has, is the result.

As fast as Hills Bros. Coffee comes from the roasters it is packed in vacuum cans. By this process, air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken out and kept out. Coffee packed in ordinary tins, even if air-tight, does not stay fresh. But no matter when or where you buy Hills Bros. Coffee, it is as fresh as when it came from the roasters.

Hills Bros. Coffee is sold everywhere. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can.

Lawrence, Ripon Battle For Second Honors At Track Meet

PIONEERS ARE DOPED TO WIN 1931 CROWN

Downstate School Boasts Best Balanced Team in Tournament

LAWRENCE college track and field team composed of the two best men in each of the various events will leave Saturday morning for Ripon to compete in the 43rd Big Four conference meet. The Vikings are the defending champions but they are not picked to win the conference title.

The Vikings are given an outside chance of finishing in second place, the dopsters having it figured out that Lawrence and Ripon will battle for the runner up position, that Carroll will win easily and that Beloit will bring up the rear.

Track talent at Lawrence this year has been mighty slim as close followers of the team learned soon after the season opened. However, during the late weeks several of the boys have been turning in better times than during early season try-outs. The good marks all were made in warm weather, and perhaps the cold of the last few days will hamper the boys.

Reports from Carroll Thursday were that half the Pioneer stars were in the hospital or unable to give their best. Lawrence authorities brand the story as another Carroll bear story and discount the statements. They look to Carroll to win easily.

Smith, star Carroll dash man is looked on as a likely winner in the 100 and 440. Lawrence may come through in the hurdles and the 220. They also have strength in the mile and two mile but probably will drop the half.

Most of the field event honors will go to Ripon and Carroll, Lawrence being weak in the events. The broad jump may see a few points for the Vikes and perhaps the high jump. Carroll was runner up to Lawrence last year losing by a few points when the Vikes won the relay race. Most of the Pioneer team is back in school and therefore a heavy favorite to cop.

BIG TEN CHAMPIONS IN LAST TOURNEYS

Michigan Suffers Greatest Loss With Passing of Eddie Tolan

Evanson, Ill.—(P)—Western conference at Northwestern university today to begin their thirty-first annual assault on track and field records. Preliminaries in eleven of the sixteen events started at 3 o'clock today, with the finals to open a half-hour earlier tomorrow.

The trial heats today were the beginning of the end of Big Ten competition for stars whose names have been listed in the championship summaries for the past three years. Michigan's greatest loss will be Eddie Tolan, who will compete for the Wolverines in the championship meet for the last time tomorrow. The tiny Negro, recognized holder of the 100 yard dash mark of .09.5, was a big favorite to win both dash events.

Illinois will send into action for the last time Le Sentman, its crack hurdler, and Verne McDermott, holder of the conference pole vault record of 13 feet, 10 1/2 inches. Wisconsin loses Captain Bill Henke, sprinter and quarter-mile, and Sammy Behr, who has dominated Big Ten shotputters since they became eligible for varsity competition in 1929.

FOX THEATRES BEAT CO. D. SOFTBALLERS

The Fox theatre softball team defeated Co. D. of the National league last night, 4 and 1, the Aces getting six hits off Klein and the Guards two off Gresenz. The feature of the game was a homer by Gresenz of the Theatre and a triple by E. Verbrick. Klein whiffed seven batters, Gresenz two.

Tonight the Aces will meet the Bankers at First ward school. Last week the team defeated the DeMojays of the Fraternal league, 5-7.

KID BALL PLAYERS

GATHER AT Y. M. C. A.

About 60 boys who aspire to be base ball players will gather at 7 o'clock tonight at the Y. M. C. A. to confer with Ony Johnston post leaguer on plans for the summer's baseball season. The boys will be organized into about four teams and a series of league games played. The best boys will then be picked for the post team.

Records Show Supremacy Of Eastern Major Clubs Over Western Outfits

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

THE triumph of the east is the only possible title for the story of the first round of inter-sectional play in the two major baseball leagues. Only one eastern club failed to reach at least a .500 average in its games against the west in the round which wound up yesterday with four more eastern victories out of three American league games and a complete wash-out by the National league.

The Philadelphia Athletics must come first in recounting the tale of eastern triumphs. The A's made a clean sweep of their eleven games in the west, climbing to the top of the American league. Altogether they have won 13 successive games, including the Detroit Tigers for a final triumph yesterday, 12 to 5. Four Detroit pitchers yielded 18 hits, including Al Simmons' eighth homer of the year, Mickey Cochrane's sixth and one for Ernie McNair.

Washington also did some important climbing in its western tour, downing the Chicago White Sox, 4-2 yesterday to make it nine victories in eleven games. Heinie Manush drove in all four Senator runs. The New York Yankees, holding second place just ahead of Washington, won seven and lost two. They completed the route of Cleveland yesterday taking a 7-5 decision after Babe Ruth's fifth homer of the season had given them a good start. Cleveland failed to win one of its eleven games against eastern clubs and yesterday's defeat was the twelfth straight.

Rip Collins of St. Louis cost the Boston Red Sox a chance to gain an even break in their 12 games in the west. Collins held the Sox to four hits to take a 2 to 1 decision. Boston finished ahead of all the western clubs with five games won and seven lost. Detroit, which split with the Yankees and took a series from Boston, led the westerners with eight defeats. St. Louis won three games and lost six while Chicago scored three victories to seven defeats. Each of them took a series from Boston, the easterners winning all other series.

Giants Have Good Record

In the National league, the count for 32 inter-sectional games was 20-12 in favor of the east with the New York Giants in the lead. The Giants lost a single game to Pittsburgh but won every other series to finish with six victories and two defeats. Boston and Philadelphia each won five games from their western visitors and lost three while Brooklyn, despite some wobbly playing, broke even in its eight games.

Pittsburgh, at a disadvantage playing away from home, equalled the Robins' record. The St. Louis Cardinals managed to hold the league lead by a few percentage points as they won two games and lost four. Cincinnati's last place Reds did better than expected, turning in four victories against six defeats. The Chicago Cubs went into an unaccountable slump, winning only two games out of eight.

Calling the Strikes

New York—(CPA)—The Brooklyn players were having a lot of fun this spring at the expense of Babe Herman. He made a bet with Lefty O'Doul that he would lead him in batting this year. Then both of them went into a slump when the season opened and the players' union called the strike.

They meant that the bet had ruined their team's chances.

Now Herman is batting around .315 and O'Doul about .265. Herman is becoming to indulge in some quiet suffering, while Lefty has got to do a lot of climbing to win those hundred berries.

SUNDAY'S GAMES

Appleton at Oshkosh.

Kaukauna at Menasha.

The scores of the Menasha-Appleton and the Kimberly-Kaukauna games Sunday in the Fox River Valley Playhouse ball league gave Menasha undisputed lead.

Menasha won its third game by handing Appleton a 6 to 3 defeat, while Oshkosh lost to New London in a tight battle, 2 to 1. The third game Sunday resulted in a 7 to 1 victory for Kimberly over Kaukauna.

The feature of the Menasha game was the hitting of Smith, Menasha shortstop who got a home run and a triple in four times to bat, scoring four runs. Klein, pitcher for Appleton, had to relieve Hollenbeck in the fourth inning.

Kimberly Gets 7 Hits

Kimberly got eight hits off Kaukauna to score seven runs, including a home run by Malcolm and a double and a triple. "Dud" Courchane, Kimberly, had 10 strikeouts in seven innings.

Sunday, the South Side Business Men's club team, the Oshkosh entry in the league will play at home at Menominee park. The game is to start at 10 o'clock.

The Oshkosh club has withdrawn from the city municipal league and will concentrate upon winning the valley crown. The main reason for withdrawing from the city league is that their regular team could not be intact for the "Mun" games.

LAWRENCE NETTERS AT RIPON TOURNEY

Undeclared in dual meets this season, Lawrence college tennis plays bid fair to win honors at the Big Four conference tennis tournament at Ripon college Saturday. The Vikings have defeated Carroll, Ripon and Beloit colleges in dual meets.

Singles contestants will be John Strange, Charles Barnes, Neal Klausner and Harold Pierce. The doubles combinations are Strange and Klausner, Barnes and Joe Negroso. Klausner was a member of the 1930 doubles championship team.

Seventy-seven men and one woman were awarded letters for athletic prowess recently by the University of California at Los Angeles.

Columbus Red Birds Take Lead In Association Race

CHICAGO—(P)—None of the experts gave the Columbus Red Birds a tumble when it came to picking contenders for the association championship this spring—the Birds, led on a St. Louis-Cardinal chain-store diet, today were at the head of the procession.

The ascent to the top of the pile was accomplished yesterday when Columbus defeated Louisville, 8 to 6, while St. Paul was idle because of wet grounds.

Early references to the Columbus club which has not won a title since 1907, included "battered Red Birds," "feeble Red Birds" and everything except strong Red Birds. But Manager Harry (Nemo) Leibold, with the aid of the Cardinals, has assembled an extremely able organization. In the outfield are Pld Purdy, Smith and Moore. The infield includes Pat Crawford, Leon Bedore, Eddie Decker and Elmer Yeter, and after a somewhat aimless start, the Red Birds have won 17 games while dropping 12.

Kenneth Asho pitched the whole game yesterday and although rapped for 10 hits, managed to outlast Ed Walsh, Guy Williams and Ken Penner. Walsh was the victim of a big rally in the fourth when Columbus busted home five runs.

The race in the Winnebago league points to a tight scrap for top positions. The Oshkosh will be at home again Sunday, meeting the Omro club, while the Oshkosh Cards journey to Menasha.

As the league now stands, the Cards, North Fond du Lac and Menasha are undefeated, but this state of affairs must change as Menasha and the Cards clash.

North Fond du Lac goes to Red Granite and followers of the league leaders have declared that they will be surprised to see North Fondy beaten.

They are basing their bet on the fact that Webb Schulz, former White Sox pitcher is hurling for Red Granite. It is true that Red Granite has lost two games, but in both of these Schulz has hurled fine ball and the score has been close. Omro just nosed them out Sunday 2 to 1.

Noel With Berlin

Two big changes have been made in the league, Bruce Noel, Oshkosh left hander now pitching for Berlin and "Red" Learn, now throwing them for Omro. Noel replaced Stowell and Learn replaced Becker.

Noel, pitcher for various teams in Oshkosh and vicinity is well known to the fans. Learn, now an Oshkosh man, formerly pitched for the Oshkosh club in the old Fox River Valley league in about 1920 when Fred Beebe was the manager. Learn at that time had a cross fire delivery which he used.

Learn will oppose Joe Hable when Omro and the Indians clash at the park. The Indians are hoping that they have gotten all the bad baseball out of the system and will return to the stride they exhibited in the first two games of the season, the one against Stillers of Green Bay and the first league game against Appleton.

The Nofkie Fuels, Appleton entry, will go on the road for the first time this season when they invade Berlin. Defeated in two games on local diamonds by close scores, the Fuels have been looking into the winner's column Sunday.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

NOT only do golf and baseball players have some trouble with the new balls in use this year, but the tennis gladiators are afflicted with strange spheroids.

Bill Tilden, in an article in the U. S. L. T. A. magazine, says that a player, to be successful abroad, must know the eccentricities of the various types of balls.

The Slazenger can be hit hard but tends to float.

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon K. McIntyre

Down the Fairways

WENT out and played a round of golf Thursday afternoon with George Vitense, Jake Mathews and Art Lemke at Butte des Morts. Colder than the dickens when the sun wasn't shining, but then one doesn't get a chance to play with so select a crowd every day.

Vitense was in fine form and shot a 35 for the nine holes he played with us. Started out with three fours, then a par five, went one over par when his drive on No. 6 was short, picked up a par on No. 6, landed a midiron shot a few feet from the pin on seven and got a birdie two, took par on No. 8 and came home with a birdie three on nine. Not bad considering the wind, cool air and clothes.

Mathews and Lemke just shot golf and who the dickens ever said could play. That's why I didn't keep score on most of the holes. Just like all duffers I counted only the good ones.

Vitense is playing as much golf as possible these days because he'd like to make a fair showing in the P. G. A. qualifying round down at Madison Country club, Chicago, in a couple weeks. Incidentally he closes his golf school at Madison in another week and then will spend full time at the club here.

Next week sometime they are holding a dinner for Butte des Morts members, George tells me. Guess it's Thursday. The feature of the evening will be showing of Bobby Jones' slow motion pictures on how he makes his shots. They are slowed down 200 times and show every little detail of form. That ought to bring a lot of the boys out. Dan Steinberg, Pelkey, Wesco, Al Krugmeier, Ed Hilfert—all the regulars. Wouldn't be a bit surprised if they'd be like a bunch of youngsters and want to see a couple shows.

One of the tobacco companies has started a new gag so I hear. Any golfer who gets a birdie will get a tin of cigarettes. Of course the birdies must be bona fide, the score cards must be turned in properly vouched for by a witness. I probably won't get any for a while and I have no regrets, I don't smoke that brand.

They held a sweepstakes prize at the club last Saturday and the first report was E. C. Hilfert won first prize. Then Ed disclaimed the honor or it developed his card which was thought to have showed an 83 actually had a 93. So Ed didn't finish among the prize winners.

Oscar Riches has started tournament over at Riverview. The first will be held Saturday and is an invitation tourney, one of a series of four to be held this summer. Members can invite friends to compete. Prizes will be given the winners. The program starts at noon with a lunch at the club.

The Riverview pro also has a list of other tourneys all prepared and will hand them out as the season goes along. Merchandise prizes will be awarded. Riverview is in great shape, Riches says.

Riches' Lawrence college team goes to Ripon Saturday for the state golf tourney. If the boys can crash through over the Tuscomb course Oscar will feel pretty good, and he should.

The cool weather of the last couple weeks hasn't helped business at the Municipal course. Municipal course golfers are pretty much a bunch of fair weather boys and girls. Sunday there was quite a gang out in the morning. Give the folks a couple warm days and golf balls will be thicker than mosquitoes over there in the Fourth ward.

Haven't heard any complaints around here about the new ball. Personally we've found they don't travel so far but that they can be lost just as easy. We've also discovered that the boys who like to hit 'em a mile suit have a supply of the old ones. So if your opponent is hitting 'em further than you are here's a tip—just look at his ball.

SUNDAY'S GAMES

Hollandtown at Wrightstown.

Greenleaf at Forest Junction.

Darboy at Appleton Pure Milk.

BATTLE for the top position in the Badger Baseball league will be staged Sunday afternoon at Erb park when Appleton Pure Milk company team and Darboy clash for the first meeting of the two teams. Each has won three games so far and has not been defeated.

The Milks have been pounding their way to wins over all teams in the league. Last Sunday they walloped Greenleaf at Greenleaf by a score of 20 and 5 despite the fact the game was doped to be close, with Greenleaf holding a slight edge. A heavy victory for Appleton Sunday will almost indicate the club is a safe easy sailing in league competition.

A battle for cellar honors will be staged at Forest Junction where Greenleaf and the Junction nine how. One team will have the consolation of not being on the bottom when the game is over.

The third battle of the afternoon will show Hollandtown at Wrightstown. Wrightstown has won two games this season, Hollandtown but one.

Chicago—(P)—Back in 1912 the Washington Senators went through the western half of the American league for a series and didn't lose a game.

No team in the league had been able to accomplish the feat since then until Connie Mack's Athletics, champions of the world, did it on the western jaunt which ended yesterday.

From the league records Henry P. Edwards has unearthed data showing that the Senators of 1912 started out on June 1 and returned home with a record of 15 straight victories. They did win one in the east and upon returning to their own park, took the first game of a doubleheader before losing one, for 17 in a row.

Mr. Mack and his men opened their invasion at St. Louis May 8, but rain held them to one game. They won it and moved to Chicago where they took three straight. Cleveland was next and the A's won out; and yesterday finished up by making it three straight over Detroit.

INVITATION TOURNEY AT RIVERVIEW CLUB

The first of a series of golf tournaments will be started at Riverview Country Club Saturday when Ocean clubs, club professional, sponsors an invitation tourney. Members will be asked to bring a friend to compete in the meet and merchandise prizes will be awarded. The tournament is the first of four invitation tournaments which is planning.

Fishermen:

Badger Sports Briefs

Milwaukee—(P)—Led by Billy Schommer, Wisconsin's No. 1 ranking player, the Milwaukee State Teachers' tennis team was in La Crosse today to meet the western peds in a match for conference singles and doubles titles.

Oshkosh—(P)—The Oshkosh state teachers college track team yesterday defeated the La Crosse teachers, 79 1/2 to 60 1/2, in a telegraphic meet.

Beloit—(P)—Beloit college frosh track squad yesterday was defeated by Beloit high, 47 to 17, in a meet here.

Madison—(P)—The University of Minnesota tennis squad defeated the University of Wisconsin racquetters, 4 to 5, in a match here.

Indianapolis, Ind.—(P)—Crashing into a retaining wall at the speedway here yesterday while making a test run for the Memorial day 500-mile automobile race, Frank Brisko, Milwaukee race driver, damaged his machine badly but escaped injury. He said he expected to have the racer repaired in time for qualification trials tomorrow.

OLD BUT ACCURATE

Memphis—Its face is yellow and its hands are small. But a clock in the Memphis Power and Light Co., building marks time as accurately as any of its electrical buddies. It is 150 years old, and every part and wheel of it is constructed of wood.

Mr. Mack and his men opened their invasion at St. Louis May 8, but rain held them to one game. They won it and moved to Chicago where they took three straight. Cleveland was next and the A's won out; and yesterday finished up by making it three straight over Detroit.

WILL HONOR ROCKNE AT TRACK TOURNEY

Milwaukee—(P)—Johnny Nicholson's squad from Notre Dame topped a record field of 11 entries and were favorites to win the sixth annual central intercollegiate outdoor track and field meet tonight under floodlights at Marquette University's stadium as a memorial to the late Knute Rockne, Irish football coach.

The Notre Dame team has won the meet three times while Michigan State and Marquette have one victory. Preliminaries are scheduled to start at 8 o'clock and the first event of the final at 8 o'clock.

In addition to the "big three" of the meet, schools represented include Butler, University of Detroit, Milwaukee State Teachers college, Quincy, Ill., College De Paul, Loyola of Chicago, Armour Tech and Lake Forest.

A trophy cup will be awarded in honor of Rockne, one of the Central conference organizers back in 1926, in addition to the usual medals.

The Rev. William M. Magee, S. J., president of Marquette, is honorary referee and James D. Lightbody, former Chicago university Olympic star, will act as starter and referee.

BIG TEN MENTORS ARRANGE SCHEDULES

Evanston, Ill.—(P)—Faculty athletic committee representatives, athletic directors and football coaches accompanied Big Ten track and field squads to Evanston today, to hold their annual spring meetings.

Arrangement of schedules was the big task of the athletic directors and gridiron coaches, while the faculty members, who sometimes pop up with sensational decisions, were reported to have "nothing in particular" on their calendar.

Dance, Valley Queen, May 24th. Music—Night Owl Orch., and entertainers. Adm. 35c.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Heinie Manusch, Senators—Drove in all Washington runs with home run, triple and single against White Sox.

Warren Collins, Browns—Held Red Sox to four hits; beat them 2-1.

Mickey Cochrane and Bing Miller—Divided 10 hits evenly as A's trounced the Tigers, 12-5.

ILLINI HAS CHANCE AT BASEBALL TITLE

Chicago—(P)—Illinois will either gain what will amount to a stranglehold on the Western conference baseball title by tomorrow night—or the race will be in a fine scramble.

The Illini yesterday scored their seventh victory in eight starts, mauling Purdue, 9 to 2. Tomorrow they will be at Wisconsin to play a doubleheader with the rejuvenated Badgers. If they win both games, the race will be over. However, the loss of one game would put Northwestern and Chicago right up there, provided they get by Ohio State and Indiana, respectively.

Illinois and Wisconsin universities will meet in football next fall for the first time in eight years. Bob Zuppke, Illini coach, was graduated from Wisconsin.

VALLEY CONFERENCE CHANGES CAGE PROGRAM

A 14 game basketball schedule in which every Valley conference team plays the other in home and home games, has been drawn up for 1931-32, as result of a meeting held here Wednesday. The schedule replaces the former 10 game schedule in which each team met all except two of the valley schools. The card will not be announced until approved at a meeting here June 6.

The revised schedule will force some of the clubs to play about a 16 game schedule next year if they are to play "natural" opponents. In all probability the Valley cage program will start their cage season with two or three conference games before the Christmas holidays. In recent years most of the clubs have not started basketball until after New Years.

Sports Question Box

Question—Which was the greater all-around athlete—Jim Thorpe or Jim Rausch?

Answer—If you take all sports, football, baseball, as well as track Thorpe was greater by all odds. In track it should be pretty even.

Question—Who is the recognized world's flyweight champion?

Answer—Take your choice between Frankie Genaro and Midget Wolgast. The pair fought a listless draw and are recognized as champions by different boxing boards.

Question—If a fly ball hits the center fielder on the shoulder and then bounds so high that the left

Answer—It is.

Question—If a ball is batted over the fence and the batter fails to touch second base and the ball never comes back can the batter be put out?

Answer—Yes. Use common sense on that play. If the batter does not touch all of the bases he cannot score a run and if he is caught off the proper base he can be put out. No rule makes a present to a batter except the called ball rule, or hit by pitcher.

Question—Will the Schmeling-Stubbing fight be judged by three persons?

Answer—No. The rule in Cleveland provides for a referee's decision.

Question—Was the Newton Lawler who won the Rugby football game for Harvard against Yale the old Princeton end?

BY JESSIE DOUGLAS FOX

SYNOPSIS: When her cousin Frances has to go to a distant sanatorium, Nora Lake rejects Dr. More's appeal that she remain with her Aunt Emily to help care for the household and Evan's two children, abandoned by their father. She is happy in her engagement to Jonathan Thayer, brother of her late husband, the artist, Nicholas, and years for the Thayer mansion, also the home of Jon's step-sister, Damon. Nora's father, Julian, arrives from Italy and borrows money from Jon to exhibit his paintings. Because she knows her father's worthlessness as an artist, she is dismayed upon visiting the art gallery to see displayed as his, paintings far beyond his ability. Jon does not understand why she asks him to take her away.

At last they were in the silvery gray room of Jon's home, the sunset coming in through tall windows. How feverish her eyes looked, how desperately white she was. She flung off her hat with a wild gesture and saw then that someone else was in the room. Damon was sitting in the window, and she rose and came slowly toward Nora. Her tea gown with its delicate lace fell away at the throat, showing her milky skin. Her fair hair was bound around her head like a shining coil. She held out a cool hand to Nora as they sat down. Nora began to talk breathlessly about nothing. Was Damon going to stay home now? Had she had a pleasant summer? Damon answered quietly. Her eyes never once on Nora's face.

"Where have you been today?" Damon asked tonelessly. "Oh, I was in New York—I met Jon—Jon's been so kind—"

Why did she talk in this senseless, crazy fashion? Why was she half mad with excitement? She kept turning her eyes towards the window. There was something that she could not look at, something that changed the whole room. "You see, I brought it down from my room," Damon said at last. "Nora was forced to look at Nicholas' painting of the old peasant woman. The brilliant light that suffused the scene; and the old woman with her patient folded hands. All at once there was nothing more to say. Damon was looking at the picture, looking back at her. Here was Jon with the cocktail shaker. Nora grasped a thin stemmed glass and drank it thirstily. She felt as though everything in the room were spinning about her in a mad fantastic dance, and in the center Nicholas' picture blazed in a circle of light."

Damon and Jon were talking, and she sat there looking at them, as though they were strangers. "You've heard about the show?" Jon asked. "Nora hasn't told you? Her father's a wild success." Jon left them alone at last. "I, too, saw the exhibition," Damon said.

The words dropped into the silent room as though they had fallen from a pool. Nora was battling through this silence, like a spent swimmer who fights for life. "Tell me about your father's paintings," Damon was saying. "I have nothing to tell you."

Why did her words spin off into the dreadful silence? Why was Damon looking at her in this strange searching way as though she were a small insect, secure in a pin, an insect struggling for escape? "I should prefer that you would tell me when he painted all those pictures."

"How could I tell you?" Her voice was hoarse. She wondered what had made it hoarse. "I see that you know." "Know—what?" Damon's eyes sought the picture of the old peasant woman. In another moment Damon was going to say something that would change the face of the whole world for them both. She must—save it off.

"I don't know what you mean!" "You know who painted those pictures." The words were like hammer strokes, each one crashing against her skull. Her head sank lower and lower. "The man who painted those pictures is dead," Damon said. (Copyright, 1931, Jessie Douglas Fox)

Not at home. . . That's what Nora's told tomorrow when she calls. Anyway, Damon's reason seems good enough.

SUCH BIGOTRY! "Yes," remarked the young typist to her girl friend, "I like the new job and the boss, but he seems a bit bigoted to me." "Bigoted? In what way?" "He seems to think that words can only be spelled his way," Newcastle (England) Chronicle.

17 BANDS WILL MARCH IN HOLY NAME PARADE

Other Organizations Also May Be Brought to Appleton for Event

Plans for the huge parade, which will be one of the features of the rally of Holy Name societies of the Green Bay diocese here on Sunday, May 31, were furthered at a meeting of the executive committee on the convention last night.

Seventeen bands and one rifle and drum corps already have made arrangements to enter the parade. Four of these organizations are from Appleton, which has four Catholic parishes, St. Mary, St. Joseph, Sacred Heart and St. Theresa. The Appleton musical groups which will participate are: the 120th Field Artillery band, the Appleton high school band, the Appleton Junior high school band, and the Eagle Pipe and Drum Corps.

Other cities which are sending bands to the rally, and the names of the parishes which are sponsoring their share of the activity, are: Green Bay, American Legion band parishes of St. Francis Xavier, St. John, St. Joseph, St. Mary of the Angels, St. Patrick, St. Peter and Paul, St. Wilfrid and St. Mary.

Little Chute, Little Chute Community band, St. John parish.

Manitowish, Manitowish high school band, parishes of St. Boniface, Immaculate Conception, Sacred Heart, St. Andrew and St. Paul.

Menasha, St. Mary high school band, Menasha high school band and by the parishes of St. Mary, St. Patrick and St. John.

Oshkosh, 127th Infantry band, parishes of St. Peter, St. Mary, St. Joseph, St. Vincent de Paul, St. John the Evangelist and Sacred Heart.

Pine Grove, Pilsen brass band, Holy Trinity parish.

Stevens Point, Stevens Point city band, parishes of St. Stephen, St. Peter, St. Joseph and St. Stanislaus.

Shawano, St. Joseph Menominee Indian band, Sacred Heart parish.

Tisch Mill, Tisch Mill brass band, St. Mary parish.

Wautoma, Wautoma high school band, St. Joseph parish.

West De Pere, Nicolet high school band, St. Joseph and St. Boniface parishes.

The committee also announced that it is awaiting definite word on the attendance of several other bands.

Major Charles A. Green will be the grand marshal for the parade. Assistant marshals will be Fred Heinritz, Fred Scheppeler and Roy Heinritz.

Four Divisions

The parade will be divided into four divisions, comprising 130 societies. The various units will assemble at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon with the head of the parade forming on Park-ave, facing west. The parade will start promptly at 2:30. The marchers, who are expected to number in the neighborhood of 10,000, will go west on College-ave, from Park-ave to State-st; south on State-st from College to Prospect-ave; and west on Prospect-ave to Pierce park, where it will end.

The reviewing stand will be on State-st, facing St. Mary church and the final review will take place in Pierce park. The afternoon program, with Judge George A. Stoughton as the municipal court at Milwaukee as speaker, will follow the parade. After the program there will be a band concert until 6 o'clock.

The reception committee for the convention will meet at 7:30 Friday evening at the Catholic home.

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU

"GEMINI"

If May 23rd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from noon to 2 p. m., and from 5:40 p. m. to 8 p. m. The danger periods are from 9 a. m. to 11:10 a. m. and from 9 p. m. to 11:10 p. m.

The astrological signs of May 23rd indicate intellectual progress and some happening that will safeguard the interests of the plan or undertaking which you have most at heart. In the home, there may be misunderstanding, which will yield to the beneficent influences of the evening.

A child born on this May 23rd will be long-lived and blessed with material success and felicitous relationships. It will be far-sighted, well balanced, endowed with a keen sense of justice and have a great and an abiding love for its home and kith and kin.

Born on May 23rd, you are active, both mentally and physically and have a great capacity for work. No matter what field of endeavor you enter—always provided it is one of your own choice and selection—success will, undoubtedly, be yours, as you will bring to bear on your efforts clear mindedness, singleness of purpose and an unconquerable determination. Nothing in this world will come to you by chance. Everything you earn will be the result of hard, indefatigable labor.

In spite of a practical mind, your artistic tastes are highly developed, and, as a hobby, you may find great pleasure in gratifying these inclinations. Both men and women born on May 23rd possess the rare faculty of keeping a secret—a virtue rare in either sex—and they are not inquisitively curious, a weakness common to men and women alike.

You, at times, suffer from moods, but are usually careful not to inflict them on others. Usually quiet and retiring, you are self-

"NO - FINE - WEEK" EXPECTED TO BRING IN "LOST" BOOKS

As a magnet to all lost, stray or stolen children's books, the children's department of the Appleton public library has declared the week of June 1-6 as "No-fine-week". During these six days any book brought back to the children's room, no matter how much fine it has accumulated, will be accepted without fine and without questions. Notices have been sent to all schools in the city, asking the teachers to explain the plan to the youngsters.

Miss Marceline Grignon, children's librarian, announced Thursday that she has about 200 new children's books, but that she will not put them on the shelves until the children show an improvement in the treatment of books. So many of the department's most valued books have been torn and marred with children's writing that Miss Grignon is reticent about putting out new books.

OUTLINE "Y" CAMP PROGRAM AT ONAWAY

C. C. Bailey and W. S. Ryan Will Direct Summer's Activities

Letters describing activities and accommodations at Camp Onaway, the Y. M. C. A. boys' camp at Onaway Island, Chain o' Lakes, Wau-paca, are being sent out this week by C. C. Bailey, boys' work secretary.

The camp season will be July 9 to 23, inclusive. Mr. Bailey, W. S. Ryan, physical director of the association, and an experienced staff will conduct the summer program. one who wants a constant, loyal and true life-partner.

Successful People Born May 23rd:

1—Charles Backus Storrs—reformer.

2—James Buchanan Eads—civil engineer.

4—Alfred Pritchard Sloan, Jr.—president General Motors Corporation.

5—Douglas Fairbanks—actor.

6—George W. Marston—musician.

(Copyright, 1931, The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Mr. Ryan will direct sports and swimming, and will instruct boys who wish to pass life saving tests. Activities which the boys will be able to take part in are nature study, woodcraft, boating, hiking, leathercraft, woodwork, life saving and handicraft.

Mrs. Marie "Ma" Dick again will be camp cook and friend of all youngsters who attend. She has been camp cook for several years and is a great favorite with the boys. The camp program follows: 6:30, reveille, setting up exercises and the morning dip; 7:30, breakfast, 8:15, work hour; 9:15, chapel; 9:45, project period; 11 o'clock, beginners' swim; 11:30, regular swim; 12:30, inspection; 12:30, dinner; 1:30 rest hour; 2:30, recreation; 4:30 afternoon swim; 5 o'clock, free time; 6 o'clock, retreat, supper; 7 o'clock, free time; 8 o'clock, camp fire and evening program; 9:30, taps and lights out.

HI-Y CLUBS GATHER AT HIGH CLIFF PARK

The three chapters of the high school Hi-Y club will hold their last meeting, a joint picnic, at High Cliff park Sunday afternoon. The final business meeting will be held around the camp fire Sunday evening, when the year's business will be completed. The meeting will be the last because the boys are taking part in many school activities and will not have enough time to take care of Hi-Y work. The three chapters are the Theta, Delta and Beta chapters.

Launch Test Campaigns To Restore Prosperity

Advice received from St. Louis, Mo., by the Merchants' Information bureau of Appleton, shows that the American public is quick to respond to newspaper advertising which points on the value of paying bills promptly as an important means of speeding up business and bringing back prosperity.

Test campaigns with "Pay Promptly" as the theme have successfully been conducted under the direction of the National Retail Credit association in a number of cities, including Minneapolis, Memphis, Oklahoma City, Kansas City and Nashville, with the result that preliminary plans are under way to extend plans in other cities throughout the country, it was stated.

"Back of the advertising tests, and the consequent decision to enlarge the educational work, is the fact that American retail merchants are in the banking business to the extent of twenty-eight billion dollars worth of open credits and installment sales annually," writes David J. Woodcock, manager-treasurer of the national organization in a letter to local credit men. "Approximately fifteen billion dollars or more than half of it is not paid when due. As a result of the public's failure to pay bills when

CHICAGO TAKES NEW ATTITUDE ON PROHIBITION

Police Instructed to Check Up on All Saloons in City

BY OWEN L. SCOTT

Copyright 1931, by Cons. Press
Chicago—(CP)—The new Chicago official attitude toward prohibition enforcement activities of the police department, gradually is emerging as a result of policy pronouncements by Mayor Anton J. Cermak.

The wide open town plan, tried unsuccessfully by former Mayor William Hale Thompson, admittedly is being followed by what its sponsors would dub a "rule of reason" in meeting the problem.

Today Mayor Cermak had formulated for police attention his ideas on home brewing.

"I think that the police have sufficient work to do without snooping at the back doors of homes," he said. "I don't see why the police should be concerned with the small manufacture of wine or beer in the homes, which is intended for home consumption."

Individuals who may in the past have been shaken down by coppers because of their home brewing activities are thus freed from the threat of any police interference.

With regard to saloons, the new mayor has ordered that the police department get busy with a check to determine whether all saloons have complied with local licensing requirements.

These saloons, know in most cities as soft drink parlors, or speak-easies, are required to pay an annual license fee. There are thousands of them and few fulfilled any of the legal requirements in the past.

"These so-called soft drink establishments must operate in the open and must meet licensing requirements," the mayor told the police.
"At this time when the city is in need of every dollar there is no excuse for failing to pay the fees levied."

Federal prohibition enforcement agents in Chicago of late have busied themselves with larger game than the individual, saloonkeeper.
They have made a number of important raids on big Capone breweries and have been directing a good deal of attention to syndicate operated entertainment palaces.

Mayor Cermak has been a life-long wet and is disinclined to permit the police department to turn its energies to prohibition snooping unless it involve attack on the important gang figures thriving from the illicit commercial traffic in liquor.

GROUP PICKS OFFICERS

Milwaukee—(CP)—The 400 delegates attending the Wisconsin congress of parents and teachers closing here Thursday were on record petitioning legislation for adequate state aid for secondary education.

The congress also urged a minimum training of two years beyond high school for elementary school teachers and four years for high school teachers.

Mrs. W. J. Hubbard, Wauwatosa, was reelected president, and the following other officers were chosen:
Mrs. E. S. Congrove, Solon Springs, treasurer; Mrs. V. S. Bond, Madison, recording secretary; C. E. Hulton,
Marquette, first vice-president; Mrs.
Martin Gaffney, Green Bay; second vice-president; Mrs. H. C. Humphrey, Whitefish, third vice-president; A. H. Flenzke, Madison, fourth vice-president; Mrs. George Cook, Kenosha, fifth vice-president; Miss Mary Brady, Milwaukee, sixth vice-president, and Mrs. A. H. Betts, Waukesha, historian.

ASKS MODIFICATION OF U. S. SHERMAN LAW

Atlantic City, N. J. —(AP)— Modification of the Sherman law is needed, in the opinion of Dr. Benjamin
M. Anderson, Jr., economist of the Chase National bank, New York, who Thursday addressed the annual convention of the Maryland Bankers' association.

"The act should not apply at all to railroads or public utilities where public regulation of rates and services exists," Dr. Anderson said.

"It needs modification as applied to raw material production in fields where rapidly perishable and irreplaceable natural resources are involved, notably oil and natural gas."

Dr. Anderson asserted, however, that modification of the law to meet special cases "ought not to sacrifice the general principle of competition as the only safe regulating force in the general field of industry."

SPANISH PRESIDENT AT HEIGHT OF HIS COLORFUL CAREER

Niceto Alcalá Zamora Once
Monarchist—Rebelled Against de Rivera

(What's going on in Spain and who are the personalities behind the news? In this, the first of a series of four stories on the Spanish situation a closeup is given of Provisional President Alcalá Zamora. The second story will tell the plans of the monarchists, the third the new agrarian scheme, and the fourth, the position of women in the coming elections.)

BY CLARENCE DUBOSE

(Copyright, 1931 by Associated Press)
Madrid —(AP)— Provisional President Niceto Alcalá Zamora is the sort of man who reminds you in a vague way of your favorite uncle.

He is friendly, gentle, good-humored.
He chuckles now and then as he talks—although he can make a fiery enough fighting speech without any laugh in it when he is campaigning politically. He has a warning frown of personality. You are sure he wishes you well, and everybody well, and that he is earnest and sincere.

The head of the republic has thinning white hair, always tousled as though he had just been running his hands through it. His grayish white mustache usually appears disarrayed. There is always just a little something out of order about his clothes. If his trousers are creased beautifully, the chances are his necktie will be slipping. If his collar is correct, his coat may be sagged out of shape with overstuffed pockets.

He probably spends more money for his clothes than many a Madrid dandy and it is a known fact that he brushes his hair carefully and regularly. He never appears actually sloppy or ill kept, but he has a lack of always being so busy and preoccupied—so intent upon what he is doing—that some detail of dress is more apt than not to go disregarded.

Regarded as one of the best lawyers in Spain, Alcalá Zamora was a monarchist until he no longer found himself in favor with the Primo de Rivera dictatorship. The king backed the dictator when Alcalá Zamora carried his complaint to the throne —and from that day he began to work for a Spanish republic. Previously he had extensive political experience in pre-dictatorship governments and had accumulated a modest fortune. He is said to have spent most of it supporting the republican movement.

His speech is fast, but rather musical, and still carries quite an Andalusian accent, for he was born in a village near Cordoba fifty-four years ago. All in all, he is an appealing speaker either on the stump or in the court room. He does not like to prepare the manuscript of a speech in advance, although he does upon especially important occasions.

His preference is to jot down upon little slips of paper the main points he wishes to develop and speak extemporaneously.

He has always been a hard student and worker and a man of simple personal tastes and habits. As a young lawyer he won first place in the most difficult competitive examinations known to the Spanish bar, for "oficial letrado del consejo de Estado," which means the securing of an appointment roughly comparable to that of solicitor for the state department at Washington.

He has never cared much for the theatre and has not gone in for sports. He has almost no hobbies or recreations. His work, his pro-
